M'LENDON LOSES
FIGHT IN HOUSEFinal Legislative Word Has Now
Been Written in His
CaseAPPEAL TO THE COURTS
IS NEXT EXPECTED STEPResult Did Not Prove Surprise,
Since There Was at No Stage
of Proceedings Any Doubt as to the Result—Many Ladies Hear Debate From Floor of House.

The house of representatives yesterday affirmed the suspension of former Railroad Commissioner McLendon by the overwhelming vote of 129 to 40.

The suspension of Mr. McLendon now stands affirmed under the law. The next step in the case, it is understood, will be his appeal to the courts to set aside the verdict of which the final legislative word has been written.

The result was a surprise to nobody. Though a number of eloquent speeches were made during the day, there was never any uncertainty in the minds of members as to the result. Even the 2 to 1 vote in favor of the Hardeman suspension resolution was not unexpected.

Absence of Expectancy.
There was a marked absence of the tense interest and eager expectancy that marked the taking of the final votes in the senate when the issue hung on a single vote.

The hall of the house was crowded with visitors during the afternoon. A number of ladies had seats on the floor, and the galleries were filled.

Though the previous question had been ordered for 4:30, it was fifteen minutes later when the reading clerk began calling the roll on the Hall impeachment resolution. That was lost by a vote of 55 to 115.

The eye and no roll call on the resolution of Mr. Anderson, of Chatham, providing for dividing the question into two parts and designed to reinstate Mr. McLendon, showed 47 for and 121 against.

It was after 6 o'clock when the roll was called on the Hardeman resolution, which was the main question of the day. It simply provided that Mr. McLendon be suspended from office. The vote on this resolution followed:

Vote on Suspension.

Ayes—Adams, Alexander, DeKalb, Allen, Alley, Anderson of Bulloch, Atkinson, Bagley, Bailey, Beazley, Bell, Berry, Booker, Brinson, of Decatur, Brinson, Rogers, Shappard, Brown of Murray, Butt, Burton, Calbeck, Cannon, Carwell, Chandler, Childs, Cooke, Cordell, Cowan, Curdson, Daniel, Dickson, Edwards, Elder, Ellison, English, Evans, Faircloth, Fender, Fields of Crisp, Ford, Garlington, Gantley, Glick, Grady, Guyton, Hardeman of Jefferson, Harman of Jackson, Harrington, Harvey, Hatfield, Holmes, Henderson of Irwin, Henderson of Turner, Hendricks, Hubbard, Mullender, Hule, Johnson of Barrow, Johnson of Jeff Davis, Johnson of Wilkes, Joiner, Jones of Laurens, Jones of Mitchell, Kidd, Kirby, Littleton, Lord, Loveloy, Marshall, Meadows of Talfer, Meadows of Toombs, Middlebrooks, Miller of Ware, Milkin, Minter, Mitchell, Moss, McFarland, McArthur, McCall, McCall, McCrory, McCreary, McCreath, McMichael of Butts, McMichael of Marion, McWhorter, Oliver, Parker, DeLoach, Parker of Talbot, Paulk, Peacock, Persons, Pierce, Pope, Porter, Price, Proctor, Reeves, Reid of Macon, Reid of Putnam, Roberts, Rodgers, Shepard, Shirley, Slade, Smith of Tatnall, Smith of Wilcox, Stovall, Tarver, Tripplitt, Tracy, Tuggle, Turner, Turney, Upshaw, Vinson, Waddell, Walters, Warden, Watkins, White of Screven, White of Wilkes, Wood, Woodliff, Wright of Floyd, and Wright of Stewart—129.

Nays—Alexander of Fulton, Anderson of Chatham, Armistead, Atkinson, Barkdale, Baker, Beacham, Boyd, Burck, Converse, Davis, Drayton, Ellis, Fullbright, Griffin of Twiggs, Hall, Heard, Hill, Holtzclaw, Jones of Meriwether, Lawrence, Lewis, Miller of Calhoun, Moore, McIntyre, McCutcheon, McMahon, Redding, Reese, Reid of Campbell, Roberts, Simmons, Smith of Gilmer, Strong, Stubbs, Whiteley, Williams and Wohlwendler—40.

Not Voting—Field of DeKalb, Godfrey, Griffin of Sumter, Holder of Floyd, Howell, Keith, McCarthy, Rosser and Simpson—9.

The following gentlemen changed their votes on the Hardeman resolution compared with their stand on the Anderson amendment: Anderson of Bulloch, Childs, Evans, Kinklighter, McArthur, Vinson, Warden and Woodliff. These gentlemen voted for both resolutions.

On Impeachment Resolution.

On the Hall impeachment resolution the vote, during which many members explained their votes, was as follows: For the impeachment resolution—Messrs. Alexander of Fulton, Alley, Anderson of Bulloch, Anderson of Chatham, Barkdale, Baker, Barrett, Beacham, Boyd, Brown of Fulton, Burch, Butt, Converse, Daniel, Davis, Drayton, Ellis, Evans, Fullbright, Griffin of Twiggs, Hall, Hardman of Jackson, Heard, Hill, Holder of Floyd, Holtzclaw, Howell, Jones of Meriwether, Lewis, Miller of Calhoun, Mitchell, Moore, McIntyre, McArthur, McCutcheon, Pierce, Redding, Reese, Reid of Campbell, Reid of Macon, Roberts, Smith of Gilmer, Strong, Stubbs, Turner, Vinson, Waddell, Walters, Warden, Watkins, White of Screven, White of Wilkes, Wood, Woodliff, Wright of Floyd, and Wright of Stewart—129.

$45,000 ASKED
AS THE RANSOM
FOR A RAILROAD

Failing to Get Sum, Eby Threatened to Destroy Great Pennsylvania System.

EFFORT TO BLACKMAIL
BY A VIRGINIA MAYOR

Mayor Eby Tries to Secure $45,000 From President McCrea by Threatening to Use Dynamite on the Pennsylvania Road Unless the Sum Was Forthcoming.

Philadelphia, August 5.—"This is a declaration of war. My life is openly staked on the result, for I am prepared to meet you at any time and place you may name. The weapons I shall use are dynamite and other high explosives."

Thus wrote Abram C. Eby, mayor and referee in bankruptcy of Burkesville, Va., to the "President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, Philadelphia," on July 23, naming $45,000 as the ransom for the safety of the railroad, its steamships and the traveling public, and otherwise threatening the Pennsylvania railroad.

Carefully Laid Plot.
Following a carefully laid plot of the federal postal detectives, Eby was arrested in this city today, while in the company of Oswald J. DeRousse, chief clerk to President McCrea, who acted for the latter in investigating Mayor Eby to this city. He was given a hearing before United States Commissioner Craig, and held in $10,000 bail for September term of court.

At the hearing, William L. Calvert, postoffice inspector of Richmond, Va., furnished evidence showing that Eby mailed threatening letters on the Richmond and Charlotte railroad postoffice. All through the hearing, Eby sat unmoved, and said simply that he could not furnish bail.

In his letter, Eby said he would meet no one except the president or some high official of the road. He designated that the sign of a secret order be used in the insertion of a "Personal," as an answer in The Richmond Times-Dispatch.

How Eby Was Caught.
A "personal" was inserted by postoffice detectives, and Eby's demand of $150 and transportation to Philadelphia was acceded to through Mr. DeRousse. Eby reached here last night and was arrested by the postal inspectors.

Chief Postal Inspector Calvert then said: "Mr. Eby is not crazy. He has long entertained a spite against the Pennsylvania Railroad, and he has been holding out for a ransom for the road in a branch road in Virginia, and Mr. DeRousse took Eby to the Third National bank, where he secured a certified check for $30,000 and $500 in cash."

These he offered Eby, but the latter refused, saying: "Keep them for a while."

DEAD WHITE
IS ATTACKED TO FREE THAW

Letters Thaw's Victim Wrote to Girls Are Admitted in Evidence.

AGED MOTHER OF THAW
CALLED TO THE STAND

Mrs. Thaw Almost Breaks Down While Giving Her Testimony—When Jerome Menaced Carvalho, the Handwriting Expert, the Latter Threatened Jerome.

White Plains, N. Y., August 5.—More of those stories which have stained the memory of the eminent architect, Stanford White, stories that paralleled the tale of the Madison Square tower room as told by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, was related at the Thaw sanity hearing before Justice Mills today.

They were told first by witnesses called in Harry K. Thaw's behalf and then by Thaw himself, who took the stand hoping to show that what he knew about White were not "delusions," as the state contended, and that this phase of the state's attack on his sanity is unfounded.

Between these unsavory accounts, like a jewel held up to view between soiled fingers came an illustration of mother love and filial affection that brought tears even to the eyes of those eager-faced women who had refused to leave the courtroom when warned of the kind of testimony that was to come. This was the appearance on the stand of Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, the prisoner's white-haired mother.

Adjournment was taken today just after Thaw had left the stand. He may be called again tomorrow. The attorneys will sum up on Saturday and Justice Mills hopes to render a decision some time next week.

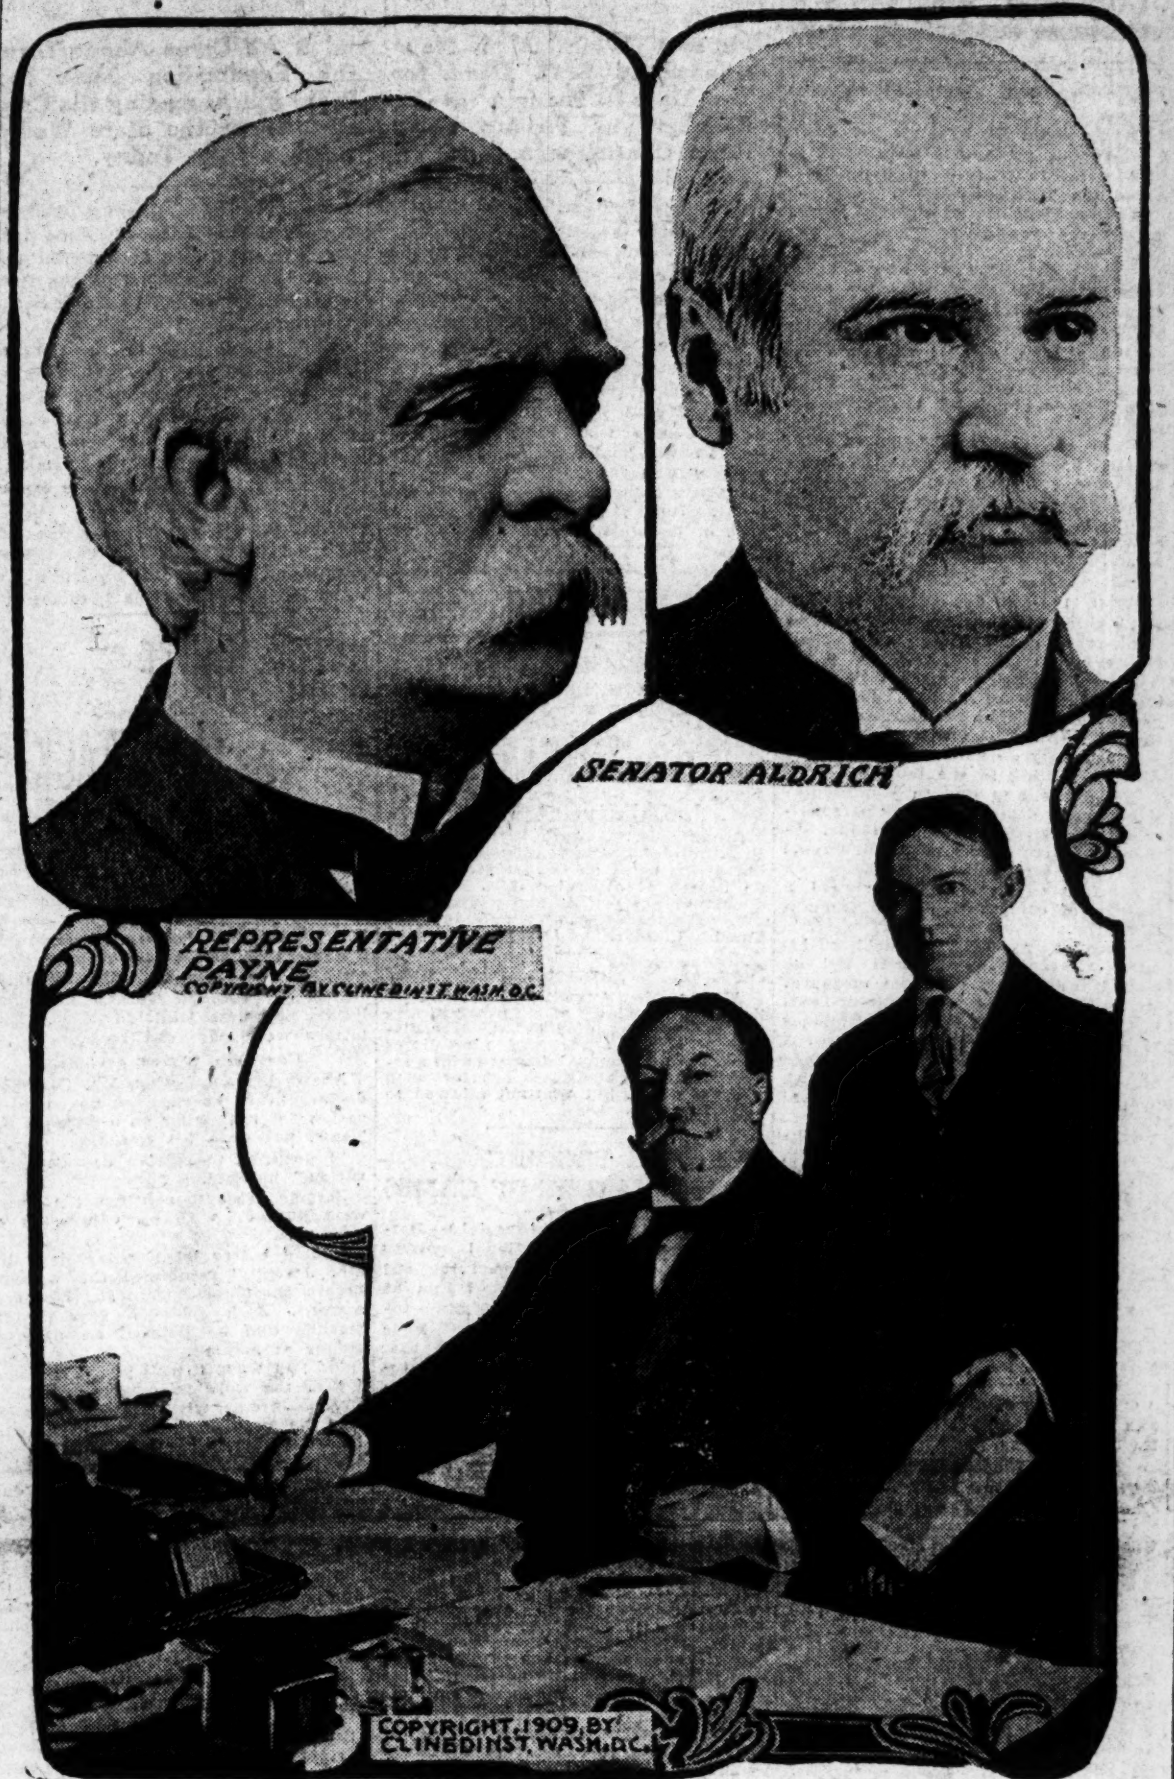

White's Conduct Towards Girls.
Charles Morchauer started off the day by calling to the stand David N. Carvalho, the New York handwriting expert. Mr. Carvalho told of episodes connecting Stanford White with two young women whom it is alleged he tried to ruin.

Both of these women allowed the use of their names. One was Miss Mae McKenzie, an actress, who appeared several times at the trials with Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the other name was given as "Sue Parker."

From Miss McKenzie, Thaw's attorney had obtained a note which figured in the trials as the "Mushroom letter." White was reported as the author. It was read in court today. It was concerning this letter that Miss McKenzie had said, according to Thaw, that her father would kill both her and White if he had seen the contents.

Mr. Carvalho testified as to an affidavit which he said "Sue Parker" made, describing an alleged attempt to ruin White.

PRESIDENT TAFT SIGNING THE TARIFF BILL;
HOUSE AND SENATE FRAMERS OF MEASURE

The close of the extra session of congress, with final disposition of the tariff bill, marks one of the most important legislative epochs in the history of the country. Few economic measures that have been before the congress have held the attention of the public more closely or for a longer period than the revision of the Dingley tariff. Tariff was the keynote of the campaign last fall, and "revision downward" early became a slogan of both parties. Mr. Taft announced that to carry out the pledge of his party in this regard he would call a special session of congress as soon as his administration was inaugurated. When the ways and means committee of the house met to consider the proposed new schedules, representatives of nearly all the manufacturing interests in the country went before that body with recommendations as to various duty schedules. Following the action of the ways and means committee, came the sessions of the finance committee of the senate, and still later the long debate in the senate, in which there were innumerable clashes between the ardent tariff reductionists of both parties and the high protectionists, led by Senator Aldrich. Technically the measure is known as the Payne bill, bearing the name of Representative Serrano E. Payne, of New York, chairman of the ways and means committee. When the bill finally went to the joint conference committee, President Taft began active work for a general lowering of schedules, and made his memorable stand for free raw materials. The president received thousands of letters endorsing his course and urging decisive reform in the whole list of tariff schedules. This cut contains portraits of Senator Aldrich, Representative Payne and President Taft and his secretary, Mr. Carpenter.

TAFT KNOCKS TARIFF BILL
ALTHOUGH HE MADE IT LAW

Washington, August 5.—President Taft tonight gave out a statement embodying his views of the new tariff act, which he designates officially as the "Payne bill," in accordance with past custom of giving first recognition to the framers of the measure, in the house of representatives.

The president declares that, while the bill is not perfect by any means, nor a "complete" compliance with promises made, strictly interpreted, it is nevertheless a sincere effort on the part of the party to make a downward revision, and to comply with the promises of the platform as they have generally understood, and as I interpreted them in the campaign before election.

MANN LEADING FOR GOVERNORTucker Probably Defeated

by Storms, but it Looks Like the Democrats Have Nominated Mann by a Small Majority.

Richmond, Va., August 5.—On account of storms in southern, southwestern and eastern Virginia, the returns of the democratic primary held yesterday are very meager. It is impossible to determine at 2:30 o'clock whether Mann or Tucker has been nominated.

Tucker declares he has won out by a safe majority, and Colonel James Mann, campaign manager for Judge Mann, has sent The Times-Dispatch a statement declaring that Mann has won by 5,300 votes.

One of the most interesting features of the day was the vote of Albemarle county, the home of Senator Martin. In spite of the senator's support of Mann, the county went for Tucker by 20 majority.

J. Taylor Ellipsen has been nominated for lieutenant governor. Williams has won over Catlett for attorney general, and Kolner has polled a very much larger vote than Brown for commissioner of agriculture.

The result in the gubernatorial race probably will not be known until late today (Friday).

CHRONOLOGICAL POINTS

ON THE NEW TARIFF LAW.
March 4, 1909—President Taft called an extraordinary session of congress to revise the tariff.
March 15—Congress convened.
March 18—Chairman Payne, of the house ways and means committee, introduced a provisional bill.
April 10—House passed bill and transmitted it to the senate.
April 12—Senate began consideration of the measure.
July 8—Senate passed bill with 847 amendments.
July 9—Tariff question shifted from both houses of congress and sent to conference committee.
July 29—Conference reached agreement and it was signed and reported to the house.
July 31—House adopted conference report and passed the bill.
August 5—Senate adopted conference report and passed the bill.
August 5—President Taft signed tariff bill.
August 6, 1909—New tariff law becomes effective.

Washington, August 5.—The tariff has been revised and the extraordinary session of congress has been brought to a close. Both houses adjourned sine die officially at 6 o'clock tonight. The actual adjournment was taken in the house at 5:38 p.m., and in the senate at 5:58 p.m.

The closing hours of the session were attended by scenes of a most interesting character. The revision had been according to the desires of some and with the hearty disapproval of others, and the last two days had been consumed by members of the senate in expressing their satisfaction or dissatisfaction.

The conference report on the bill was agreed to by the senate by a vote of 47 to 31. The vote was taken at 4 p.m., and soon afterward the concurrent resolution making certain changes in the leather schedule was adopted by both houses.

President Taft arrived at the capitol at 4:45 p.m. It was his first appearance there since his incumbency as president, and there was a constant procession of hand-shaking statesmen through the president's room from the time of his arrival until his departure at 5:30 o'clock.

Taft Signs the Bill.
Just as the hands of the gold clock in the president's room reached 5 minutes past 5, the Payne tariff bill as the measure will be known, was laid before the president. He picked up a pen supplied by Chairman Payne, of the house ways and means committee, and which was used by both the vice president and the speaker in signing the bill, and attached his signature.

After writing "William H. Taft," the president added, "Signed five minutes after 5 o'clock, August 5, 1909—W. H. T."

Handing over the president as he affixed his signature were Secretary Knox, Secretary MacVeagh, Attorney General Wickham, Postmaster General Hitchcock, Secretary Nagel and Secretary Wilson.

Mr. Payne stood with hand extended awaiting to receive the pen with which the bill was signed. He took it with a picture of boyish glee overreaching his face. Another pen was handed to the president and he wrote the word "Approved," and handed the pen to Representative Langley, of Kentucky.

A number of interesting incidents occurred in the president's room pending the signing of the tariff bill. The president had something of a personal nature to say to each senator, and good nature appeared to be overflowing.

Taft "Jokes" Florida Senator.
Senator Tallaferra, of Florida, in rather a plaintive tone, said:

"Mr. President, surely you are not going to sign the bill with that pineapple paragraph in it?" He referred to the fact that he secured an increased duty on pineapples in the tariff bill.

When the president arrived at the capitol the sun was shining brightly, but soon after heavy black clouds rolled up and the electric lights had to be turned on. Flashes of thunder and vivid flashes of lightning came from the sky. When members commented upon the brewing storm the president said they ought to be used to such manifestations, as the conditions outside were not comparable to the storm which had been going on inside. Apparently he did not take the storm as an ill omen.

The signing of the general tariff bill had been preceded by a busy day in the house and senate.

How the Senate Voted.
The senate devoted four hours to the final debate. At 2 o'clock the vote was taken and the conference report was agreed to, 41 to 31.

Yeas—Aldrich, Bore, Bourne, Bradley, Brandegee, Brown, Burkeley, Burnett, Burnham, Burrows, Burton, Carter, Clark (Wyoming), Crane, Crawford, Culton, Curtis, Dewey, Dick, Dixon, Dupont, Ebling, Flint, Frye, Gamble, Gurnea, Harlan, Hendricks, Hendon, Jones, Keane, Lodge, Lorimer, McCumber, Oliver, Page, Penrose, Perkins, Pikes, Root, Scott, Smith (Michigan), Smoot, Stephenson, Sulzberger, Warner, Wetmore—47.

Nays—Bacon, Bailey, Bankhead, Beveridge, Briarley, Chamberlain, Clapp, Clay, Culberson, Cummins, Daniel, Doolittle, Fletcher, Foster, Fraser, Gage, Hughes, La Follette, McNeill, Nelson, Newlands, Overman, Paynter, Rayner, Shively, Simmons, Smith of Maryland, Smith of North Carolina, Stinson, Tamm, Tamm, Senator McHenry of Louisiana, democrat, who was absent, was paired for the bill. He was the only democrat favoring the measure.

Reduction of Leather Duties.
Mr. Aldrich's concurrent resolution providing for a reduction of the duties on various manufactures of leather to meet the views of western senators who had been defeated in their efforts to obtain protection for hides was adopted soon after.

Senator McCumber's resolution providing additional rebate regulations for the bill, amended at the instance of Senator McLaughlin to include a provision for cotton bagging, was adopted without division.

Nothing remained but the signing of the measure.

Senators Aldrich and Daniel were appointed a committee to inform the president that congress was ready to adjourn if he had no further communication to make.

Six o'clock was agreed upon by the two houses as the hour for final adjournment.

A resolution offered by Mr. Culberson, expressing the appreciation of the senate for the able and impartial manner in which the vice president had presided over the session, was adopted.

After a brief reply Mr. Sherman declared the extraordinary session adjourned "without day." He laid down the gavel at 5:38 p. m., two minutes in advance of the time fixed.

Last Day in the House.
The house devoted the last day to perfecting the tariff bill and transacting a mass of routine business. Speaker Cannon announced his committee appointments, and these were received with varying degrees of satisfaction.

The concurrent resolution amending the leather schedule of the tariff bill was adopted without a dissenting vote after half an hour's discussion.

After a brief reply Mr. Sherman declared the extraordinary session adjourned "without day." He laid down the gavel at 5:38 p. m., two minutes in advance of the time fixed.

Police Believe It Is Lid Is Put on Tight as Lieut. Utley Tells of the Double Murder. a Drum. Sutton Tragedy.

Unknown White Men Have Apparently Been Dead for Ten Days—Thought to Be Members of Fishing Party From Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 5.—Late this evening the bodies of two unidentified white men were found in the woods near Ringgold, Ga. Apparently the men had been dead for ten days, as the bodies were badly decomposed. They are thought to be members of a fishing party from this city. Later a one-horse wagon was found near the spot where the bodies lie. In the wagon was fishing rods and tackle and a bucket of minnows. The horse was missing.

Officers from here have gone to the scene. It is thought to have been a case of double murder.

The members appeared to be tired and to indulge in the usual hilarity which marks the close of a session, and filed solemnly out, exchanging here and there a goodbye and best wishes for a pleasant vacation.

TARIFF MEASURE A CHEAT.
SAYS ALTON B. PARKER
New York, August 5.—Alton B. Parker, democrat, who was paired for the day in 1904, made the following statement today on the new tariff bill:

"The opinion widely entertained and sometimes expressed in the campaign of 1908 that the republican platform's promise of a revision of the tariff was intended to deceive the people, is now fully justified."

"By bold and impudent speech senators and members of congress have asserted that the plank promised a revision, not a reduction, of tariff duties. Their only reward is public contempt for their dishonesty."

"The president has made a strong effort to secure at least an appearance of honesty, but the little he has accomplished has been at great cost for one more precedent is created of executive using his great power to coerce the congress in violation of the spirit of the constitution."

RACING AGAINST THE TARIFF. STEAMSHIPS ARE DEFEATED.
New York, August 5.—Nearly twenty trans-Atlantic steamships which have been bending their utmost efforts in response to orders sent by the navy to reach New York before the new tariff law went into effect, lost their race at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, when the doors of the custom house changed hands.

The duty under the new law is registered and labeled "Entry No. 1,118,000," by one of Collector Loeb's clerks. Importers who have merchandise on these boats will be losers to the extent of between $100,000 and $200,000.

TART AND TART MAKERS AT WHITE HOUSE BANQUET
Washington, August 5.—With the tariff bill a law and the animosity of conference and debate all but forgotten, the "tariff tart" sat with the tart maker in the state dining room of the white house this evening.

Chamber never held a merrier throng. It was Mr. Taft's celebration of the end of the tariff fight, and his farewell dinner of the season. He leaves for the summer cottage at Beverly tomorrow afternoon.

Even the democratic members of the committee which framed the tariff bill were included in the president's invitation list.

Practically all of the prominent figures in the tariff fight were at the dinner except the "insurgents" in both branches of congress.

The dinner list included, besides the president, Vice President and members of his cabinet, Speaker Cannon, Senators Aldrich, Root, Crane, Daniel, Tallaferra, Bailey, Simmons, Representatives Dalmat, Payne, Underwood, of Alabama, Clark of Missouri, Broussard of Louisiana, James M. Griggs of Georgia, Fox of North Carolina, Randall of Texas, John W. Dwight of New York, and Longworth of Ohio.

And It All Came About Thro' The Expectation That The Probi Bill Amending the Constitution of the State Would Become Law Today.

Birmingham, Ala., August 5.—Birmingham tonight is probably the driest city in the United States. Nothing like it has been seen since the first prohibition law went into effect twenty months ago.

Every locker club in the city is dark. Places which have been operated as soft drink stands are closed. Every gambling room in the city is as silent as the tomb. Even the ultra social clubs had all their lockers removed today and the city is in fact as dry as the proverbial powder horn.

It all came about through the expectation that the new Carmichael prohibition bill would become a law when the governor signs it tomorrow.

DEAD WHITE IS ATTACKED

of White to ruin her when she first came to New York as a young chorus girl. In addition, he placed in evidence a number of letters said to have been written by White to Miss Parker, which she sold to Thaw's attorneys before the first trial, for $500. The letters were not read today.

Carvalho, Warns Jerome.
Answering a question, Mr. Carvalho declared that he received no compensation for appearing as a witness for Thaw, nor even his expenses.

"I declined to receive any compensation," he said.

Jerome arose to continue his cross-examination with an expression of menace.

"You'd better let sleeping dogs lie," Mr. Jerome, exclaimed the witness, before the district attorney had said a word. As he spoke the expert's eyes flashed, and he pointed an agitated finger at Jerome.

"If you want to call yourself a dog, I take the word from your own lips," replied Jerome, with a smile, nevertheless his manner changed and he continued his interrogations with noticeably less aggressiveness.

Demonstrations in the audience during this passage at arms made Justice Mills direct the court officers to put the witness under guard.

Mr. Carvalho finished with the statement that Thaw, during their associations in the trial impressed him as rational.

Thaw Eager to Smirch White.
It was the beginning of the afternoon session of the trial when the stand. Then the New York district attorney seemed anxious to let him know and he led him through a world story after another, evidently with the hope that the witness' palpable eagerness to talk on this theme would show Justice Mills that he was insane on the subject. And Thaw was eager to tell. The words fairly tripped over each other as he ran on.

"This thing I am going to tell you now," he said, prefacing to tell you his narratives, "affected me very seriously at the time."

Continuing, he described in detail the alleged experience of a girl whom he said White tried to seduce when she was but 16. He said that, after winning her confidence by a display of disinterested friendship, White lured the girl to his place on Twenty-fourth street.

The girl escaped through a lucky chance, he said, and later obtained a large sum of money from White under threat of a suit. After that, he continued, White had the girl boycotted, so that for several years she could not obtain an engagement in any theater in New York.

The incident as related occurred within a month of the events in the Madison Square tower room, narrated at the trial by Evelyn Nesbit Thaw.

"This woman now," concluded Thaw, "is one of the foremost actresses on the American stage."

Not All He Could Tell.
According to Thaw, these were not all of the tales he could tell about the man he killed. He gave the location of four places he said White maintained for immoral purposes. One was in Maryland, near Baltimore. Thaw said it was called "The Blind." The others were in New York.

The aged Mrs. Thaw's appearance on the stand was pathetic. Before she had spoken two minutes, her feelings overcame her and she paused. Despite her tears, she insisted on "having it over."

The other witnesses today included two former teachers and a school friend of Thaw's, who declared that he seemed perfectly normal when they knew him.

Delmas Got $50,000.
"He was to have received $25,000, but he got $50,000."

"Why?"
"Because Mr. Gleason came to my son and told him Mr. Delmas would drop the case if he were not paid more."

"And your son thought it unwise to leave lawyers in the middle of the trial?"

"I suppose so."

"Was there considerable quarreling among your son's lawyers?"

"Yes, I heard so. I think each of them wanted to be the greatest."

"Did they resign?"

"No, I fancy a lawyer rarely resigns."

Mrs. Thaw About to Break Down.
Twice during her testimony Mrs. Thaw seemed about to break down. The first time Thaw left his chair by his attorney and went to her side.

He Thinks Sutton Shot Himself, but Is Not Positive—A Lapse of Memory Is Pleaded by the Naval Officer Over an Interim of Two Years.

Annapolis, Md., August 5.—For five hours today, Lieutenant Harold Utley, of the marine corps, was subjected to an exacting examination and cross-examination in regard to his connection with the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton, of Oregon, which is the subject of investigation before the naval board of inquiry at the Naval academy.

The hearings were resumed today after an adjournment the early part of last week, pending the arrival of Lieutenant Utley, who was aboard the United States cruiser North Carolina, which reached Provincetown Tuesday.

The new alignment in the proceedings, whereby five of Sutton's brother officers who have already testified, and Lieutenant Utley, appeared in court as defendants, accused by Mrs. Sutton, the dead boy's mother, and her daughter, Mrs. Parker, of causing Lieutenant Sutton's death, had no effect in curbing the testimony of Lieutenant Utley, a victim of his privilege as a defendant, by Major Leonard, the judge advocate, to refuse to answer any questions which he thought tend to incriminate him, Lieutenant Utley waived the privilege and answered all questions put to him.

Not Certain About Suicide.
His story, in substance, was corroborative of the testimony of the other officers who were present at the fight between Lieutenant Adams and Lieutenant Sutton in the early morning of October 13, 1907, when young Sutton was shot. While Utley said he was under the impression at the time of the shooting that Sutton, in the heat of the struggle with him and other officers who were attempting to disarm Sutton, directed the shot against himself, he was not nearly as positive about the suicide theory as the preceding witnesses.

In answer to Major Leonard's question, the witness said he would consider a man to have committed suicide if he was attempting to shoot some one else and had shot himself by mistake. And later, under cross-examination by Lawyer Henry E. Davis, counsel for the Suttons, he admitted that he was reaching for Sutton's hand to disarm him when the latter freed his arm from beneath his chest, and the revolver flashed.

To Remove Suicide Stigma.
"Our object in this inquiry is to remove the stigma of suicide from Lieutenant Sutton's name, and not to point the finger of suspicion toward any one of these defendants," said Mr. Davis at the adjournment of court today.

Lieutenant Utley's testimony must be considered of great importance in that light.

Utley was senior officer in the party that were with Sutton on the night of the shooting. Mr. Davis frequently jogged the witness's memory from the testimony he gave at the inquest, but Lieutenant Utley pleaded a lapse of memory over the interim of two years.

Some of the pointed questions directed at young Utley were aimed straight at himself in his chair and answer curtly.

The interest in the case in navy circles here grows more intense as the proceedings advance.

Lieutenant Utley was still under cross-examination at adjournment today, and the summing up on both sides, which is to follow, is expected to prolong the inquiry well into next week.

INITIALS MUST GO ON LINCOLN PENNIES
New Dies to Be Prepared and Initials of Engraver Eliminated.

Washington, August 5.—Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh announced today that he had decided to have the minting of the new Lincoln pennies stopped for the present and that new dies will be prepared as soon as possible, eliminating the initials of the designer, which now appear so prominently, and substituting the single initial "B." in an obscure part of the design.

The secretary said that none of the pennies issued so far would be called for, but that the minting would be stopped because a sufficient supply was on hand. The initials V. B. are those of the designer, V. D. Brenner, of New York, and the single initial in an inconspicuous place, will be left in the new dies as recognition of Mr. Brenner's work.

The prominent position given the initials awakened widespread criticism.

Jeffries Goes to Europe.
New York, August 5.—James J. Jeffries, the pugilist, smiled a broad farewell to a crowd of well-wishers that gathered on the pier in Hoboken today, and sailed away on the steamship George Washington for a six months' tour in Europe.

Jeffries, who is now 34 years of age, will go direct to Carlsbad. The big Californian has been troubled recently with boils, and hopes that the waters at Carlsbad will aid him.

Several minutes later the mother was obliged to stop and cover her face with her fan. Her son quickly mounted the stand, put his arm about her, patted her cheek and whispered in her ear. "You had better wait until tomorrow."

"No," said Mrs. Thaw, quickly recovering herself, "I can go on."

Thaw went back to his seat and the witness resumed her testimony.

On his way to the courtroom this afternoon an old woman stepped behind Thaw and tapped him on the shoulder. Thaw wheeled quickly, but the woman had already turned away. "I just wanted to say I had touched him," she said afterwards.

COTTON BAGGING K. OF C. MEETING

NOT ON FREE LIST COMES TO CLOSE

No Favors Shown Plant-Delegates Leave for Visit ers of South. to New Orleans.

Senate Was Willing to Take Duty From Bagging, but Republicans of the House Objected.

Washington, August 5.—The senate today endeavored to correct the drawback provision of the tariff bill in accordance with Senator McCumber's ideas and to add cotton bagging to the free list as urged by the southern senators, but the house turned down the proposition.

Presenting the drawback amendment to the senate, Mr. McCumber urged its adoption. He claimed that it was really through a mistake that the measure did not already contain his provision and Mr. Aldrich stated it could not be regarded in that light. He said it had not been considered by the conferees.

The North Dakota senator, however, having accepted Mr. McCumber's amendment providing for free cotton bagging, it was made a part of the resolution. In that form it was adopted by the senate by a vote of 41 to 31.

When the resolution reached the house Mr. Hanna, of North Dakota, asked unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

Chairman Payne was quick to object, but Mr. Livingston, of Georgia, made a motion that the resolution be considered.

Mr. Payne made a point of order against the resolution, saying that it first should go to the committee on ways and means.

At the point and the resolution was laid to rest, at least for the present session.

Short Items of Interest
The Fulton county grand jury meets today in special called session to consider over forty cases that are up for trial.

Killed E. G. Williams in room 312 in the Prudential building last June, will be the case of most general interest to be considered. A special term of the superior court, criminal division, was called for Monday, August 16, to try these forty odd cases.

On the subject "Speaking With Tongues" the Rev. Harris Gillespie, B.D., will preach in Eggleston Memorial Methodist Episcopal church, corner of Washington and Fulton streets, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Gillespie has made an extensive study of this religious phenomena. His discourse will be replete with illustrations and promises to be both interesting and instructive.

The aldermanic board held a short session yesterday afternoon, at which one matter of interest was considered. This was the question of the council's award of the city printing to the American Printing Company.

The Lester Book and Stationery Company underbid the American Printing Company by $25, but the contract was awarded to the latter company. Aldermen Beutell and Hancock opposed this action, but the board voted to uphold the action of the council. Alderman Beutell then gave notice of a motion to reconsider.

In the absence of the pastor, Rev. J. S. French, the pulpit of the First Methodist church will be occupied Sunday by Rev. Nath Thompson, one of the most picturesque characters in the Georgia Methodist church. He will preach at both the morning and night services and a special musical program will be rendered.

"An Invitation and a Welcome" will be the tonight subject of Dr. W. A. Ward, the evangelist, who is assisting the pastor, Hugh S. Wallace, in a series of revival services at the new Marietta Street Baptist church, on Means street. Dr. Ward is one of the most widely-known evangelists in America, having made two trips around the world, and having preached in nearly every country under the sun. He first came to Atlanta to fill the pulpit of the First Christian church, on Pryor street.

"We are getting everything in shape for the Atlanta newsboys' watermelon cutting," said H. E. Davidson, director of our church, said Hugh Wallace, the pastor of the new Marietta Street Baptist church, which is holding a picnic today and are giving the "newsboy" an outing at the park next Tuesday night. Several prominent Atlantians will address the chaps on topics that will particularly appeal to them. Hon. Frank Rice will speak ten minutes on "From Newsboy to Capitalist." Hon. Carl Vincent, member Georgia legislature from Baldwin county, on "From Newsboy to Lawyer." R. E. Davidson, publisher of the Georgian, ten minutes on "How a Newsboy Can Make a Good Journalist." Hon. J. K. Orr, on "How a Newsboy Can Make a Good Business Man." J. D. Simmons, of the Journal, on "The Newsboy."

R. A. Evans will leave Atlanta Saturday to spend two weeks at his old home in Sandersville, Ga.

CHARGE FARMER WHIPPED NEGRO

George T. Carter Held for Peonage.

Prominent Planter of Appling County Given Preliminary Hearing Before United States Commissioner at Macon.

Macon, Ga., August 5.—United States Deputy Marshal Frank Riley has arrived here, bringing with him from Appling county, Arthur Newkirk, a 14-year-old negro youth, whose body was literally covered with scars and fresh wounds said to have been inflicted by and at the instance of George T. Carter, a prominent planter.

At a preliminary hearing before a United States commissioner, Carter was bound over to the United States court for trial on a charge of peonage.

The officer declares that the testimony will be at the hearing, and indicated that the treatment accorded the youth was revolting in the extreme.

The negro was constantly whipped, according to statements of witnesses.

CURFEW LAW IN HOUSTON

Negroes Have Made Threats to Burn Up the City.

Houston, Texas, August 5.—Following a series of fires in the residence district of the city, some of which have been preceded by burglaries, coupled with anonymous threats of negroes to burn up the city, Houston citizens are aroused to the frenzy point.

A vigilance committee has been formed and a curfew law for negroes will be advocated. The Chronicle, editorially, advises the citizens to arm themselves with shotguns for "protection against midnight intruders with jimmy and torch."

Eleven houses were destroyed in one night this week by fire. The Citizens' Alliance has been appealed to, and if the negro firebugs are caught, they will be dealt with summarily.

FOOD SHORTAGE DUE TO STRIKE

Situation Is Very Serious Throughout Sweden.

Stock of Bread Exhausted in Stockholm and Meat Supply Is Scarce--Strikers Living on Fish--Even the Grave Diggers Have Struck.

Stockholm, August 5.—Stockholm today is suffering seriously from a shortage of food, which so far is the most notable result of the labor conflict that reached its acute stages the beginning of this week. The stock of bread already is almost exhausted, and meat is scarce and expensive. The restaurants have raised their prices, and the figures today are prohibitive except for persons possessed of ample means.

The strikers themselves are living practically on fish. Thousands of them are camping out, some in tents, but many without shelter, on the shores of Lake Malar and the islands of the archipelago, where they spend their time in angling. The authorities have taken charge of the milk supply of the city, and soldiers are distributing milk in limited quantities and supervising the sale from milk cars at the railroad stations. The deliveries of ice have ceased. This is especially trying, as the weather is unusually hot.

Funerals from the state poor houses have been ordered to be held in the morning, and the electric light plants have gone out on strike, and as a result military guards have been placed over the establishments.

The authorities contend that this protection is necessary, and assert that last night they frustrated an attempt to blow up the gas works with dynamite. A gunboat has been stationed opposite the gas works, and no boats are allowed to pass between it and the shore.

A battalion of grenadiers from Linköping and a detachment of 250 men from the Västergötland regiment have been ordered into Stockholm. At Gothenburg work at all the slaughter houses has come to an end, and the general strike committee has called upon the railroad men and the printers to join the movement.

The rank of the strikers are being augmented every hour, and, according to the leaders of the movement, their total now reaches 300,000, about one-twentieth of the population of the country.

GOLDEN-HAIRED GIRL DESERTED BY MOTHER

Child Is Found in Bed Beside a Negro Woman by the Anniston Police.

Anniston, Ala., August 5.—Her father, an ex-bartender, having recently committed suicide in New Orleans, deserted by her inhuman mother and elder sister, pretty, golden-haired little Marie Sorrell, was found sleeping in bed beside a negro woman early this morning and has been taken in charge by police and placed in temporary care of the proprietor of the New Wilmer hotel. Her mother left the child in the care of a friend, and the child had not been heard from since. After the elder sister left the state, the child took refuge in a home of negroes near by.

Our Standard of Purity Is the Highest Standard Ever Maintained

We have imposed a precaution on the purity of our butter that no health authority would ever think of requesting.

The most that is ever required by health authorities is that butter must be made from certified or pasteurized cream. Certified means that the cow is healthy and that the milk is of a certain standard of wholesomeness at the dairy. It doesn't guarantee anything further. Pasteurizing the cream at the creamery kills any germs that may have dropped en route from the cow—and this is more than likely to happen. But butter made from certified or pasteurized cream BECOMES INFECTED—AS ORDINARILY PACKED.

Meadow Gold Butter

is churned from pasteurized cream. It is rich and wholesome and delicious. It is an example of how truly good butter can be. Our extra care is in packing MEADOW GOLD BUTTER in our special moisture proof, germ proof package that seals. It is patented. No one else may use it.

Better butter cannot be made. No other package is so secure.

THREE PRISONERS ESCAPE FROM JAIL

Two Others Refused to Leave.

Two White Men and a Negro Saw Steel Bars of the Taylor County Jail—One Was Held on Murder Charge.

Ruth, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Ben Garrett, George Bailey and Tom Zaymore, a negro, escaped from the Taylor county jail about noon today by sawing the steel bars. Charles Smith and A. J. Peacock, also in the cell, refused to accept the chance for liberty. Garrett is about 30 years of age, and was held for the killing of Frank Wilcher in December 19, 1903. He was not captured until April 26, of this year, at Antlers, Okla. George Bailey, the other white man to get away, is charged with assault with intent to murder. A. J. Peacock, one of the men who refused to leave the jail, on Tuesday killed M. C. McDaniel; Charles Smith, the other, made an assault on Charles Wiggins about a month ago. Both Garrett is regarded as one of the most desperate characters in the state.

A RELIEF FROM CATARRH.

Eclipse Catarrh Cure Has a Long Record of Many Cures of This Stubborn Disease.

More than half the people of this country suffer with Catarrh, and because it does not wholly incapacitate them they do not give it any attention. This is a serious mistake, as in most cases it becomes chronic and difficult to control, and finally undermines the constitution. If you have the slightest bit of Catarrh you should immediately treat it with Eclipse Catarrh Cure. This remedy will give you relief and rid you of the disease when every other remedy fails.

I read this voluntary testimonial: Eclipse Med. & Mfg. Co., Atlanta, Ga.

"I have used a package of your Eclipse Catarrh Cure and it gives me pleasure to add my testimonial to your remedy. I have not given it any attention. This is a serious mistake, as in most cases it becomes chronic and difficult to control, and finally undermines the constitution."

Very truly yours, MRS. A. Samantha, Ala. For twenty-five cents in stamps we will send you a sample of Eclipse Catarrh Cure—enough for you to judge of its curative properties. If you use it you will become convinced that it is the medicine you need. Regular package by mail $1.00. ECLIPSE MEDICINE & MANUFACTURING CO., Atlanta, Ga.

TAFT WILL MAKE VISIT TO MACON FAIR

Information Is Received From the President by Charles B. Lewis.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Information reaching President Charles B. Lewis, of the Macon Fair Association, last night from Washington informed him that President Taft is to be in Macon on November 4.

Those who have worked for his coming in Washington, Congressman Dudley M. Hughes, a fair director, and Congressman Charles L. Bartlett, believe that nothing will change the plans of the president, for he rather found himself pleased that he was going to the fair. The next thing will be the securing of an address from the nation's chief executive. That he will speak to the immense crowds of people there is little doubt, and if all plans are made to that end this will be a center of throngs of people when the president comes.

Eighth District Masons to Meet Athens, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—The annual session of the Eighth District Masonic convention will be opened in this city next Wednesday. Indications point to a large and enthusiastic attendance on the part of the Masons in this section of the state.

TWO LITTLE GIRLS TOSSED FROM PONY

Miss Annie Bates and Miss Annie Lane Newell Are Hurt.

Miss Annie Bates, the 12-year-old daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth W. Bates, who lives in the Palmer apartment on Peachtree Place and little Miss Annie Lane Newell, aged 3½ years, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred C. Newell, of West Peachtree street, had a bad fall from a polo pony on Peachtree Place yesterday morning. Miss Bates was knocked unconscious and Miss Newell was severely contused but not seriously hurt.

Dr. W. S. Goldsmith was called to attend Miss Bates, as was Dr. R. B. Ridley, Jr., the aurist, to attend an injury to her ear, received with the fall. Dr. Charles E. Boynton was called to attend Miss Newell. At night both were reported as resting easy.

These children, both riding the same pony, little Miss Newell being in front, were going down Peachtree Place, when it is stated the pony quickened its pace—homeward bound—and in an effort to hold little Miss Newell more securely, the lines were dropped and both fell to the ground.

MACON CHARTER BILL OPPOSED BY COUNCIL

Resolution Passed Asks Representatives to Fight Against Its Passage.

Brown House, Macon, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—A rather interesting session of the city council was held this morning for the purpose of making plans to oppose the bill introduced in the legislature to amend the city charter of Macon. One principal feature strongly opposed in the council meeting was the limiting of the fixing powers of the recorder of the city to $100. Heretofore the limit has been placed at $500 and a number of near beer violators have suffered the extreme penalties during the year.

Dr. T. D. Ellis, pastor of Mulberry Street Methodist church, was a speaker at the morning special session and said the main purpose of the plan to reduce the fixing powers of the recorder was to make it possible for the seller of intoxicants to get around the law and police regulations.

A resolution introduced by Alderman Chappell and adopted called upon Bibb's three representatives to oppose the passage. A number of the members of council went up this afternoon, and along with them went a number of citizens interested in the measure. On the part of the city administration the fight will be waged hard in order to keep the bill from passing.

AGED WOMAN KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN

Mrs. Mattie Grant Was Crossing Tracks.

The Accident Took Place at Payne's Crossing in Macon. Coroner's Jury Holds Engineer Was Not to Blame.

Macon, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. Mattie J. Grant was knocked from the main line of the Central railway at the crossing opposite Payne's Cotton Mills this afternoon at 3:50 o'clock and instantly killed by incoming freight train No. 38 from Atlanta.

Mrs. Grant had gone to visit a friend, Mrs. Causey, at Crump's park, and was in the act of returning over the tracks at the Payne crossing when Engineer Lew Jackson found that his train was not more than thirty yards from the point of danger. Mrs. Grant was accompanied by a friend, Mrs. Fred Brown. As Mrs. Grant entered the tracks ahead of the train, Mrs. Brown realized the danger and turned back, making a desperate effort to pull Mrs. Grant with her. Mrs. Grant had nearly gotten out of danger, but the terrible impact brought death in a moment.

The deceased was more than 60 years of age and resided on Second and Boundary streets. An inquest was held at the mortuary chapel of Jesse B. Hart this evening. Engineer Jackson was found to have done all in his power to avoid the accident.

JEALOUS OF HIS NIECE, BELL MURDERED HER

Although Married, Slayer Admits He Was Infatuated With the Girl.

Chicago, August 5.—Herman Bell, 30 years old, shot and killed Sarah Bell, his 20-year-old niece, last night and later confessed to the police that, notwithstanding the fact he is married and the father of a family, he had secretly loved the girl he killed for the past six years.

Bell became enraged when he saw the girl and her sister talking with several young men near her home. A quarrel followed and Bell drew a revolver and fired five shots. Three bullets took effect, causing wounds from which Miss Bell died soon after being taken to the county hospital. Bell attempted to escape after the shooting, but was arrested.

Miss Bell was employed as a seamstress. The slayer admitted that because of his affection for her he followed her to this country from Russia.

by Bank Robber.

After Looting the Bank Henry Paul Defies His Pursuers and Shot Four of Them Before He Himself Was Finally Killed.

White Bear, Minn., August 5.—Following a bold and partially successful attempted robbery of the First State bank of this village today, Henry Paul, the robber, and Fred Lannan, one of the pursuing citizens' posse, were shot and killed, and William Butler, one of the posse, was shot through the abdomen and is said to be dying. John Christie received a wound in the thigh and Richard Doran was shot through the wrist.

The robber, who had been employed as a laborer on some building work at White Bear for the past three days, received his payment for the bank to get it cashed. Cashier Alfred Auger was the only man in the bank.

The man offered Auger the check, and while the cashier was examining it Paul drew a six-shooter. When Auger looked up he was told to hand out all the cash in the office, amounting to $750.

The robber fled down through the streets of the village in the direction of Bald Eagle lake, about a mile distant.

Auger gave the alarm and in a few minutes the entire population of the village, armed with revolvers and rifles, was in hot pursuit.

As his pursuers gained on him, the robber took refuge in a shanty in a yard on the edge of town, and when the self-constituted posse drew near opened fire.

Lannan, who was preceding the pursuers, went boldly toward the shanty. He dropped dead on the threshold with a bullet in his heart. This tragedy caused a halt among the pursuers, who dodged behind whatever shelter offered itself and opened fire with rifles and revolvers.

The fire was returned by the robber, but a few minutes later the robber fell, shot through the abdomen.

When the attackers got inside the little building they found the robber dead on the floor, his revolver in his hand.

KAHN IS IN NEW YORK AND WELLS IN AUGUSTA

Principals Absent But Stockholders of New Theater Will Meet.

To all appearances the new theater deal is settled, for both Ben Kahn, manager, and Jake Wells, one of the bidders, are out of the city, and consequently taking but long-distance interest in the situation.

Wells is an habitual flier. He gets nervous when out of the vicinity of a railroad, and is never happier than when he can hear the whistles blowing. His interests are so diverse that he is ever on the run. As one of his "fellow-workers" expressed it, a train is the only place where he can sleep, because he has nothing else to do.

But the fitting of Ben Kahn is rather unexpected. He had expected to remain in Atlanta until after the stockholders' meeting this morning, at which time some announcement was to be made of the fate of the new theater, into whose hands it had fallen and what sort of attractions would be played there.

While it was generally believed that Kahn was acting as agent for Klau & Erlanger, the latest reports are to the effect that he has sold out to Wells. He has always stated, however, that it was a matter of money with him, and that he was always willing to sell out, pack his baggage and quit the town, should his price be met.

PROHIBITION BILL PASSES HOUSE

Constitutional Amendment Given Big Majority.

Great Enthusiasm Was Shown in Alabama House When Its Members Gave Carmichael Bill a Vote Over Constitutional Majority.

Montgomery, Ala., August 5.—Amid great enthusiasm and handclapping as each member voted in the affirmative, the constitutional prohibition bill passed the house just before adjournment for the afternoon. The vote was 70 to 28, only 64 being needed for the constitutional three-fifths majority.

Speaker Carmichael closed the debate for the bill, and was constantly cheered by the gallery. So intense became the feeling at times in the house, that the speaker had to threaten to clear the galleries.

The bill makes provision for an election the first Monday after the expiration of three months after the present extra session ends, the people voting and the amendment to be effective on passage and proclamation to that effect by the governor.

It is to forever prohibit the manufacture, sale and keeping for sale of alcoholic and malt liquors and other intoxicating liquors and beverages, with the exception that alcohol may be sold for medical, scientific and mechanical purposes, and wine for sacramental purposes, under such regulations as the legislature may hereafter prescribe, and to declare that nothing in the constitution of Alabama shall be construed to prevent the legislature under the police power from designating the places where such liquors may not be stored or kept.

WILL MAKE NO EFFORT TO RELEASE HIS SISTER

W. W. Morton Believes Trial Will End With Preliminary Hearing.

W. W. Morton, of Dixon Springs, Tenn., brother of Mrs. William White, who is held at the Tower with her husband for the shooting of Michael P. Anderson at the Aragon Tuesday, stated yesterday that he would take no steps to secure the release of Mrs. White.

Mr. Morton arrived during the morning and immediately went to the Tower to see his sister. Although he says he believes Mrs. White's release could be brought about through certain legal steps, yet she was receiving good treatment and was not now complaining.

Mr. Morton is of the opinion that the trial will end with the preliminary hearing, which is being deferred on account of the condition of Mr. Anderson.

Mr. Anderson, the wounded man, is still in a serious condition at the Elkin sanitarium, but last night he was reported to be shade improved.

The detectives searched Anderson's room yesterday and found letters addressed to him from Mrs. White, which it is said will strengthen the theory that Mrs. White was in love with Anderson.

Before her marriage Mrs. White was Miss Frances Morton, of Hopkinsville, Ky. The statement that Sergeant Lanford said he knew Mrs. White several years ago is now denied, relatives of Mrs. White declaring Lanford made no such assertion.

VETERANS HOLD REUNION

Atlanta Confederate Memorial Day Observed at Marietta.

Marietta, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Atlanta Confederate Memorial day was observed by the Marietta camp of Confederate veterans with appropriate services in the Methodist church here today. J. Old Morris officiated, and Robert Leo Avery, of the Atlanta bar, made the principal address. Addresses were also made by Dr. J. L. Bryan, pastor of Methodist church, and Dr. Holderby.

WOMAN WILL AID ATLANTA IN FIGHT FOR CONVENTION

ED SUTTON.
He Will Aid Atlanta in Fight for Typo Convention.

R. L. WHITES.
An Atlanta Representative.

The Atlanta delegation to the International Typographical convention in St. Joseph, Mo., left the city yesterday.

The delegates from the Atlanta Typographical Union are R. L. Whites, for many years connected with The Constitution, and E. L. Sutton, long time with The Atlanta Journal.

Along with these delegates went Mrs. R. L. Whites and Mrs. W. B. Correll, Mrs. Correll going as a representative of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the International Typographical Union. The Ladies' Auxiliary to the International Typographical Union was organized in Atlanta.

That was back in the eighties.

Mrs. Fannie S. Sutton, a long-time resident of Atlanta and an active worker in social events, wherein the printer held part, was made the first president of the Ladies' International.

Mrs. Correll's presence at the convention will recall to many the fact that the Woman's Auxiliary was organized in Atlanta.

MRS. WILLIAM B. CORRELL.

LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES MUST MAINTAIN A RESERVE

Mutual aid, benefit and industrial life insurance companies are required, under a bill which passed the house yesterday, to maintain a reserve of $100 insolvent assets for each $100 of insurance or risk carried by such corporation.

The measure was introduced by Mr. Upham, of Douglas. It provides that in estimating the amount of insolvent assets there must be deducted any liabilities of such company for any money due on claims other than liabilities upon its policies, contracts of insurance, or certificates of membership.

Among the new bills introduced in the house was one by Dr. Brown, of Fulton, to prohibit the pollution of lakes, streams and rivers in this state.

By Mr. Evans of Bibb—To have all defective cars and equipment repaired in Georgia by railroads using such equipment in Georgia.

By Mr. Helms of Paulding—To permit railroads to furnish free transportation to the sheriffs of the various counties in Georgia.

To Reach Copper Companies. A bill by Mr. Butt, of Fannin, and Mr. Smith, of Gilmer, proposes to fix the value of suits for damages against persons or corporations producing gases or poisonous fumes which are injurious to growing crops and other vegetation. The bill requires that agents of such corporations must be kept in the counties where the damage occurs. Upon notice from a person suffering damage from poisonous fumes the corporations are required to

THEATERS

At the Casino.

Edna May Spooner and her capable supporting company are giving a splendid performance of "Cleopatra's Dilemma" at the Casino this week, pleasing large audiences. There was a good house present yesterday afternoon and another paying audience tonight. The specialties by various members of the company add greatly to the jollity, and comedy and specialties combine to make one of the most enjoyable productions of the long summer run.

At Ponce de Leon.

Even the bad weather has failed this week to hurt the attendance at Ponce de Leon, which, as the summer advances, is becoming more and more to be recognized as the breathing spot of the city. The recent change of policy, by which most of the attractions on the grounds are open by a 25-cent book system, has proven very popular, and now there are few idle moments at any attraction.

TRIES TO MAKE ESCAPE FROM POLICE STATION

Alice Tiffin, a little negro girl, 4 years of age, made a dash for liberty from the juvenile ward of the police barracks last night at 8 o'clock, and was caught after a hot chase by Call Officer Barfield in an alley on Gilmer street.

The girl carefully planned her escape by making a dummy of pillows and placing her hat over the supposed head of a woman on the bunk. She called for Alfred Moore, the night janitor, and asked for water. Then she crawled under another bunk, and when Moore came in with the water she darted through the door while his back was turned.

FOES PUNISHED; FRIENDS FAVORED

Speaker Cannon Names Committees for House.

The "Insurgents" Against the Rules Are Disciplined—In Several Instances Ranking Members Are Turned Down. Georgia Fares Very Well.

Washington, August 5.—Representative Fowler of New Jersey, Gardner of Massachusetts and Cooper of Wisconsin, three of the "rules insurgents" who held chairmanships in the last session of congress, have last their committees. Representative Vreeland of New York succeeds Mr. Fowler as head of the committee on banking and currency, and Representative Robinson of Illinois succeeds Mr. Gardner as chairman of the committee on industrial arts and exhibitions.

Mr. Cooper was replaced by Representative Olmstead of Pennsylvania.

Representative Davidson of Wisconsin is retained as head of the committee on railways and canals. These members participated in the fight on the rules at the beginning of the present session, and thus incurred the speaker's displeasure.

Ranking Members Turned Down.

Although Representative Wanger of Pennsylvania was the ranking member of the last committee on interstate and foreign commerce, Representative Mann of Illinois, who has been most active on that committee, succeeds to the chairmanship.

Representative Gardner of New Jersey also was the ranking member of his committee (postoffice and post roads) but Representative Weeks of Massachusetts has received the chairmanship of that important committee.

The ways and means committee and the committee on accounts, mileage and rules were organized earlier in the session. Representative Alexander of New York succeeds to the position of Theodore Burton's position as head of the committee on rivers and harbors, and Representative Parker of New Jersey is made chairman of the judiciary committee.

Caused by the retirement from congress of Representative Jenkins of Wisconsin.

Representative Dwight, of New York, the republican whip, gets Mr. Crumpacker's place on the ways and means committee.

Mr. Crumpacker resigned his position in that committee today.

Democratic Appointments.—The democratic appointments remained practically unchanged where the members of last year's committee are members of the sixty-first congress. Among the new chairmanships announced is that of Lewis of Mississippi, and improvements of the Mississippi river.

Representative Campbell, of Kansas; expenditures in the interior department, McGuire, of Oklahoma, and expenditures in the department of agriculture, Graham, of Pennsylvania.

Among the new appointments to the membership of the important committees is that of Representative Sims, of Tennessee, to the interstate and foreign commerce committee; military affairs, Craven, of Arkansas, and Dent, of Alabama, democrats; naval affairs, Macon, of Arkansas, and Estep, of Louisiana, democrats; territories, Humphrey, of Mississippi, democrat.

Representative Bowers, of Mississippi, is to be a member of the joint committee on the part of the house to investigate the manner and expediency to indemnify the government against loss.

Georgia fares well in the matter of committee assignments. Representative Edwards is given the vacancy on the rivers and harbors committee, a position held many years by the Savannah district representative. Lee is also well provided for, having been appointed to the agricultural committee.

Mr. Heflin, of Alabama, was taken off this committee and given a position on the committee on the part of the house to investigate the manner and expediency to indemnify the government against loss.

The other Georgia members get their old assignments.

WILL BLOW UP MAINE AT WHITE CITY TONIGHT

Captain Blondell was the entertainer at White City last night to one of the largest crowds ever gathered at that popular resort. His swimming exhibition was a great bit of art. Tonight he promises to blow up the Maine, and in addition will give a short lecture on swimming.

SIGNED WORTHLESS NOTES

Interesting Testimony Introduced at Bank Hearing.

Asheville, N. C., August 5.—With the former teller of the First National bank still on the stand, District Attorney Holton this morning took up the trail of a great mass of discounted notes of the bank and pursued it until court adjourned. It was the object of the district attorney to show that the process of discounting, alleged to be worthless, went first into one account, then into another, all finally showing up, the government claims, to the benefit of the defendants, Eeese and Dickerson.

In this relentless hunt for evidence E. P. Moxey of New York, an expert accountant, who investigated the failed bank's books in 1917, and National Bank Examiner Frederick A. Hull, were pressed into service. A somewhat interesting feature was found in the introduction of a letter from W. H. Penland, one of the bank officials, to Gaston Sluder, of this city, wherein the latter was asked to sign notes for the reason that "mother and sister need the money."

The letter also stated that Sluder would be held harmless, as the borrowers were worth more than $50,000.

Macon Has First Bale of Cotton

Macon, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—The first new bale of cotton for Macon came to the warehouse of Heard Bros. this morning from D. P. Grantham, of Cochran, Ga. It was sold to Brown Wimberly, for Neely & Co., and will be sent to the Augusta office at once.

Nat Winship put it on the block, and when the bidding was first started, it was knocked down for the price of 20 cents per pound. The arrival of the first bale this time in Macon is ten days ahead of former seasons.

IN SUBURBAN WRECK

Electric Car Filled With Laborers Was Struck by Train.

Chicago, August 5.—An electric car well filled with laborers was struck by a Pennsylvania suburban train at the One Hundred and Third street grade crossing here tonight and thirty-five persons were injured. The electric car was crossing from Whiting, Ill., to Chicago.

O. P. Best, the motorman, died at the hospital. The injured were taken to Chicago hospitals. The injured motorman said at the hospital that the accident was caused by the brakes on his car refusing to work.

HEYDLER MAY NOT GET PLACE PERMANENTLY

"Big Man" Is Wanted for the Job—Heydler Said to Be Too "Small."

Cincinnati, Ohio, August 5.—Some doubt exists as to whether John Heydler will be chosen to succeed the late Harry Pulliam when the National League magnates meet in December. The first opposition to Heydler came from President Ebbetts, of the Brooklyn club.

President Garry Herrman, of the Cincinnati, also objects to Heydler as a permanent executive. He said today: "Heydler is an excellent man, and has conducted the affairs of the league in a satisfactory manner during the absence of Harry Pulliam, but I am afraid that he is not quite big enough to hold the job permanently. It requires a man of such strength to conduct the affairs of so big a corporation as the National League, and that's the sort of man we must get."

While President Herrman would not commit himself on any candidate, it is known that he is a great admirer of President Sexton, of the "Three I's" League's National Association.

"Sexton is a big man in every way," said Herrman when Sexton's name was mentioned, "and has been most successful in conducting the affairs of the baseball organizations with which he has been connected."

ARTIST DRAWS CARTOON; BALL PLAYER HITS HIM

Decatur, Ill., August 5.—Albert "Beany" Jacobson, ex-pitcher of the St. Louis and Washington baseball teams and now pitching for Decatur in the "Three I's" League, is under $1,000 bond for an alleged assault on R. M. Kanouse, a local cartoonist.

Kanouse is in the hospital unconscious and the result of his injuries cannot be foretold at this time. Jacobson had taken offense at a sporting note in the paper and meeting Kanouse in front of the office yesterday is said to have knocked him down and kicked him in the head.

Kanouse went to the office and was found later unconscious. It is thought his skull is fractured. Jacobson did not know Kanouse and had no personal grudge against him.

Tariff up to Taft now, and that's pretty high up.

But the legislature is not original. There were others.

Even Mark Twain doesn't see any humor in the tariff jokers.

Alabama is not laughing at our legislature. Can't afford to.

Connecticut's blue laws are on the market. (Overstocked here.)

South Carolina would be thankful for one of a wet August.

The frown on the face of that baby in Alfonso's arms is prophetic.

The tough tariff needs such knock-out blows as Heflin can deliver.

The poets who can't afford airships are taking high flights in poems to them.

The tariff has taken up so much time that the people will have to cut the long meter doxology.

It's all right to fly high—when you have the Wright machine and the wind is in the right direction.

When Congressman Heflin lands on an antagonist in the latter field that "there's life in the old land yet."

"Speaker Cannon's favorite reading is Holy Writ." And you can hear Congress exclaiming, "Holy smoke!"

While blowing daylight through Darkest Africa it is doubtful if Bwana Tumbo heard a noise like the tariff.

Just when we had exhausted our adjectives on the ice trust come coal-hard predictions of an early winter.

Still there are congressmen who dread the home-coming. And so many congressmen waiting to give them the "shake."

No, the tariff hasn't subsided. They've merely turned it loose in order that it may get a good grip on the people.

McCutcheon, of The Chicago Tribune, has sailed for Africa to cartoon lions. But he will find a live lion in that country?

Just as we looked for things to simmer down in Washington comes Uncle Joe Cannon, burning the wind in his automobile.

One hundred new Lincoln pennies in your pocket may make you feel richer than if you were accompanied by a solitary dollar.

The Wrights will be kept busy enough if they hope to manufacture private aeroplanes for all the high-fliers in this country.

If you want to cause a chautauqua exodus just announce a senator who will explain why he "didn't" when the tariff was up to him.

The Baltimore American suggests an aeroplane for Uncle Joe Cannon. Never do for a man who has grown gray in an atmosphere of hot air.

When there is nothing more to double-tax, some one should rise to a question of personal privilege and ask, "What 't' all are we here for?"

A scientist says that in ten years from now we shall behold "The Man With Wings," and probably he will be able to spare a feather or two to keep down the wife's military bill.

A FAREWELL TO FAT-HEAD.

The Constitution feels that the public is, to some extent, at least, entitled to an explanation of the anthropoid antics of the fatuous Fat-Head across the way.

In commenting upon the senate's action upon the case of the reform chairman of the railroad commission of the reform administration, The Constitution took occasion to show that the public was prompt to penalize broken pledges, and that the ousting of the chairman by the legislature but logically followed on the heels of the repudiation of his chief by the people.

The Journal, forsaking the cause of its quondam confederate, the chairman of the railroad commission, sought with servile zeal to fly to the defense of ex-Governor Smith by personal tirade upon the editor of The Constitution.

We believe the readers of The Constitution will agree that its columns have been kept free from personalities, frequently in the presence of much aggravation. In the case of the fatuous Fat-Head we have made many allowances that would not have been justly due to contemporaries of experience, refinement or ethical instincts.

We have been patient under editorial criticism that would have provoked serious discussion, if the criticism had not emanated from a source so fresh from the bankruptcy bath that washed out of the reach of trusting creditors all visible assets but a shotgun and a watch!

We have been lenient to the truckling obeisance Fat-Head has promptly paid to his fallen chief, for we knew that when Fat-Head, fresh from the bankruptcy bath, passed the hat around among the neighborhood for funds to save his situation, "Ben Adhem's name led all the rest."

Perhaps it would not be too much devotion if Fat-Head shared the remainder of his days on earth betwixt regret for the trusting creditors, whose honest debts remain unpaid, and gratitude to those new creditors whose ready largesse enables him to now proclaim his new-made prosperity, while the former creditors look on in hungry wonder.

But when Fat-Head forsakes the fertile field of self-examination to level a low personal attack on the editor of The Constitution, we are compelled to resent and repudiate the attack, not so much by reason of the attack itself as by reason of the polluted source from which it emanates.

We realize fully the utter futility of controversy with a hopeless ass, to whom truth and honor are but empty words, but at the same time share the only comforting reflection that follows the bandying of words with a pole cat—that now everybody in the neighborhood will know him by his smell.

So, Fat-Head, having already three times had his farewell say—formally dismissing the matter each time—we likewise drop the subject with renewed apology for having had to skin this skunk before its olfactory.

ATLANTA'S SELF-LIBELOUS VITAL STATISTICS.

Speaking blithely of the "Atlanta spirit" and of the greatness and promise of Atlanta, and libelling the city by our farcical system of vital statistics in the same breath, seems hardly compatible with the temper of the people of this municipality.

Yet that is the sort of damaging paradox Atlanta presents to the nation, when it comes to placing in the black and white of the official record the births and deaths occurring in our corporate limits.

For instance, for the period in 1908 corresponding to the elapsed portion of the current year, the public registration of births was shown as 1,464. For the corresponding period of 1909 the birth rate is represented as 1,416, a discrepancy of 48.

Yet in the past twelve months, even in the past six months, the population of Atlanta has grown by several thousands.

The records of births made public, therefore, comprise a burlesque on the actual situation. Instead of constituting a record of the increase of population from this source, Atlanta's system of vital statistics stands for a wholesale and perpetual misrepresentation.

There is a law requiring that data concerning every birth within the city limits be registered with the board of health within a reasonable time of its occurrence.

It is possible that one physician in three or four observes the regulation consistently.

The others make returns when they think about it, or not at all.

No such haphazard method prevails with regard to the recording of deaths. We scrupulously chronicle the decrease in our population. The law that requires a certificate of death and its cause before the issuance of a burial permit, assures that this detail will be attended to.

As a result, day after day the columns devoted to necrology radically exceed the columns devoted to offsetting births.

In nine out of ten instances, the reverse is the case, and should be thus recorded.

Until this slovenly and inexcusable practice is remedied, until the law requiring the registration of every birth is ENFORCED WITHOUT DISCRIMINATION, we must be satisfied with going before the nation in the attitude of the municipality that deliberately libels itself.

BEGINNING REFORMS IN THE SCHOOL-ROOM.

A bill has just passed in the Alabama legislature providing that a part of the public school curriculum of that state shall be devoted to teaching the dangers and loss consequent upon abuse of alcoholic stimulants.

The works on physiology used in many of the towns in Georgia refer cursorily to this question, as well as to the equally important problems of sanitation and hygiene.

The practice is capable of indefinite and commendable expansion. Superficially, it has the appearance of usurping the parental function, but the same objection could be brought against the simple enforcement of discipline.

The average teacher knows, in this latter respect, that in many cases practically all the training a child gets is crowded into the few hours it spends in the school room and that, in well-defined instances, even this benefit is qualified in a degree by the lack of intelligent attention in the home.

The American youngster of either sex spends the most susceptible years of life in school. "It is at that period that the mind is most receptive and that the moral lessons taught may be expected to bear most permanent fruit in later years.

Taking advantage of this established fact, we should like to see the programs of public education generally amplified, to the end of instructing children in the practical duties of citizenship, as well as in proper and judicious ways of living.

WAR-WEARY SPAIN.

The mass of the Spanish population has been engaged the last few days in peculiarly exemplifying the ancient paradox of a people "going to the war to get peace."

The conflict between this country and Spain was a mere brush to the United States, serving ultimately to stimulate our industries, weld the sections more closely together and, as the worst consequence, saddle us with a chain of troublesome dependencies.

But for our defeated enemy it was a far different matter. While it crushed Spain to the ground, it simultaneously acted in the beneficent nature of the sharp healing of the surgeon's knife.

It pruned off possessions that had for centuries drained the best blood and energies of the country, and it accomplished something far more worth while, for it opened the eyes of the Spanish people to the fact that their poverty-stricken condition was the inevitable consequence of decades of strife that conferred little profit on the people-at-large.

When, therefore, the Moors, Spain's traditional enemies, began to move on the Spanish troops and the two armies locked in a murderous embrace, revolutionists in many parts of the mother country seized the opportunity to light the fires of disaffection.

The people were simply wearied of war, and their resentment was the keener for the belief prevalent here and there that the struggle in Morocco was being pursued in behalf of a few privileged mining interests.

In Barcelona the rioting has been especially bloody. Chaos and anarchy have been turned loose, and summary courts-martial have snuffed out an unestimated number of lives in an effort to terrorize the recalcitrants into order.

Whatever the issue, the people of America will be likely to find considerable personal sympathy for Alfonso, whose reign began under the uncertain auspices of having to rescue a broken kingdom from threatened dissolution. And it is also apparent that in whatever manner the current situation resolves itself, the progress of the American conception of liberty will be perceptibly the gainer.

ORGANIZATION FOR GEORGIA MELONS.

Growers of watermelons and cantaloupes in Georgia, Florida and South Carolina are knocking at the door of the Georgia Fruit Exchange.

Having witnessed the splendid efficiency and profit of organization in marketing the peach crop of this state, many of them have expressed an anxiety to have their especial products also looked after by the same management.

It is to be hoped that the majority of the growers of melons and cantaloupes will come to this conclusion prior to the annual meeting of the peach exchange next month.

Watermelons and cantaloupes from this state are in tremendous demand in eastern markets throughout the shipping season. A few Georgia planters have made money out of their cultivation and out-of-state sale, while a great many others, lacking market knowledge and marketing facilities, have found their output in these items, at best, an uncertain asset.

The same conditions, on a larger scale, of course, prevailed with the peach industry before the effecting of organization.

There is no reason why proper management should not make melons and cantaloupes worth several thousands of dollars more to Georgia each year than they are now bringing.

Organization and system will accomplish this end.

Little Dreamer.

Mornin', little dreamer,
With sunshine in your eyes;
The stars were talking to you
Ere they left the brightening skies.

Tell me what they whispered
Before they went away,
To the rosy little dreamer
Where the starry dreamers stay?

Sweet were all their secrets—
Sweet as sweet may be:
Mornin', little dreamer—
Will you tell your dreams to me?

Room for More Complaining.

Weather's lookin' mighty bright, but—room for more complainin'
Bet you, long before the night 'twill be rainin'!

South wind singin' soft an' low, bees in blossoms hummin';
Weather won't continue so: Storm's a-comin'!

Ain't that just the way with life? Trouble for the soul, boys;
But we need the storm and strife: Let 'em roll, boys!

Prefers a Walk.

A southwest Georgia poet sings of the joy-riders:
"They come so fast and furious,
Our peace they do destroy;
We are not risking such a ride:
We'd rather walk with joy!"

The Legislative Epidemic.
"Dis yer legislatur' business is what you might call epidemic," said Brother Dickey, "gess de 'quid, an' sometimes sweeps thro' a whole family 'fo it gits thro' wid 'um. Fer generations an' generations my white folks has been 'legislatin'—here, dar, an' everywhere. It runs in de blood, an' dey kin no mo' hep it than I kin hep 'bein' righteous, or a 'possum kin hep

"Any of them ever make a mark?" he was asked.
"Oh, yes, suh. One er 'um got mad an' throwed a ink bottle at somebody, but outside er dat I never did hear tell dat any er 'um did much cuttin' up."

The Wrong Kind of Stew.

The editor of the Alkali Eye had a narrow escape recently. He says:
"We like to've got our fool self inter a heap o' trouble 't'her o' day; we got a invite from th' business league up at Marlin for to come up there an' git stewed, an' we have never yet turned down no invite ter git stewed. Git 'tin' stewed is where we shine, an' we was just packin' our bottle when we met up with a duck what had been up at Marlin an' got stewed an' he put us next. Their stevin' is done with wells of hot mineral water an' this stew we'd come gack ter Alkali with all the booze stewed out of our system, with our nose in normal color, with our frowzy whiskers like silk, an' feelin' like a three-year-old. The idee of our goin' agin such a stew as that!"

The Old Philosopher.

Some of the lazy brethren rejoice in the coming of the airship—not because it's such a great invention, but that it gives them the opportunity to rise in the world without any special effort.

Getting Rid of Him.

Here is a rhymed suggestion by one of the weary brethren:
"He ain't legislatin'
To suit us," they say,
So they're goin' to send him
To Congress some day.

Where they talk from the tedious
Mornin' till night
An' no one's expected
To hit the nail right!

"A Certain Rich Man."

Here is a suggestion for a possible obituary:
"He rests from his labors and his oil works don't follow him."

A Success at Fishing.

"It's my opinion," said the Georgia youngster, "that dad is a better fisherman than he is a legislator, an' he helps religion more when he's fishin', for then the whole settlement ain't swearin' at him, like they are when he thinks he's raisin' Cain at the capital."

"They Say It's Coming."

"How queer it will seem," remarks the Iowa Register, "for a while at least, to hear speeches beginning: 'Miss Chairwoman, I don't know when any chance has pleased me so much as the chance to introduce to this stylish audience our distinguished fellow citizen, the popular suffragette, congress-woman So-and-So,' etc. But they say it's coming, fellows."

And rides the growers, too.

HOW IT STRIKES
THE MACON TELEGRAPH.

Under the circumstances, the thrust made by The Constitution is to a degree pardonable, and it is yet velled rather gently. But it is the first time The Constitution has reminded Mr. Gray of his own trouble which grew out of the cotton speculation of Yaman & Company, Mr. Gray being the "company" and principal operator. We have heard it said more than once that Mr. Howell had been generous in not exploiting his rival's trouble in this regard, and we are inclined to think the same way about it.

Athens, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Will Adams, a young white man in the employ of the Bell Telephone company, while at work on a pole on Prince avenue today at noon, became overtaxed and fell a distance of 25 feet, striking on his head. He sustained very serious injuries by the fall and is now at St. Mary's hospital.

Gossip at the Capitol

WITH THE STATE PRESS.

Not Sufficient Cause.
(From The Dawson News.)
When all the facts are calmly reviewed there doesn't appear to be sufficient ground for removal, and if he is removed a big percentage of the people will hold to the opinion that he is a victim of politics.

A Political Sacrifice.
(From The Clarksville Advertiser.)
Guyt McLendon will go down in history as a political sacrifice.

Contradictory.
(From The Albany Herald.)
In one breath the Georgia senate passes a bill taking away from the governor the power to remove a railroad commissioner, and in the next breath it confirms the removal of Railroad Commissioner McLendon by former Governor Hoke Smith on charges that are purely political.

A Most Important Measure.
(From The Savannah News.)
Our interest in this matter—the matter of biennial sessions—is that of the people. It is to be remembered, $75,000 every two years. This money is needed by the public schools, and some of it is needed by every other one of the state institutions. If there is no sound reason why it should be paid out to men who don't really need it, and if the state can get along without the legislation which it is proposed to do away with, we don't see why this money shouldn't be given to the public schools instead of being used for a session of the legislature, where no legislation is needed.

People Clamoring.
(From The Fitzgerald News.)
But before the legislature does adjourn, one of the most important bills that ought to pass and become a law is the question of establishing biennial sessions for the Georgia legislature. The people and the press all over the state have been clamoring for this very thing for some time, and it is up to the general assembly to make this a law before adjournment. The bill has passed the senate, and it should meet with the same consideration in the house, and then go to the governor for his signature, and the thing will be over.

Not a Square Deal.
(From The Savannah News.)
It turns out, however, that the law is evaded, and hence this new prohibition legislation on the general tax act. If the bill should be sent to Governor Brown it would place him in a rather embarrassing position. If he signs it he will violate his pledge and if he vetoes it he will violate his pledge to put him in the position of opposing prohibition. It doesn't seem as if the prohibitionists were giving him a square deal.

The value of the franchise for the Savannah Lighting Company at Savannah has been fixed by the board of arbitrators at $50,000. When the returns were made the franchise was valued by the corporation at $2,000. The comptroller general rejected this figure and assessed it at $100,000. Arbitration was called for and Commissioner Murphy Gaudier was named by the state and F. G. Bell, of Savannah, by the corporation. Without calling in an umpire, they agreed upon a valuation of $50,000, which was accepted by the comptroller. No protest was filed because it is stated the company is in accord with certain restrictions for doing business there.

To Appeal Case.
The case of the Greenville Cotton Oil Manufacturing Company of Greenville, Ga., versus the Central, the Southern, the Atlanta and West Point, the Louisville and Nashville and the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroads for an alleged discrimination on the matter of hauling coal from Alabama and Tennessee mines to Greenville, Ga., is to be referred to the interstate commerce commission by the railroad commission of Georgia. This company will ask Greenville to be placed on an equal footing with Palmetto, Hogansville and Palmetto and other towns similarly situated.

Resolution Reached Governor.
The resolution passed by the state senate directing the removal from office of Chairman E. M. McLendon, of the railroad commission, reached Governor Brown yesterday.
Under the law the governor is not required to pass upon this resolution. It is stated, and he will neither approve nor disapprove it.
The simple protest of the effect of a majority vote of both houses shall be removal, and whatever the governor might say one way or another would not affect it.

Appointments by Governor.
The following appointments made by Governor Brown, were considered by the senate in executive session yesterday and confirmed.
E. Wall, to be judge of the city court of Fitzgerald for a term of two years from August 27, 1909.
Alex. J. McDonald, to be solicitor of the city court of Fitzgerald, for two years from August 27, 1909.
J. D. Howard, of Milledgeville, to be solicitor of the county court of Baldwin county for a term of two years from February 1, 1910.
Hamilton McWhorter, Jr., to be solicitor of the city court of Lexington, for a term of four years from December 28, 1909.

Requisitions Held Up.
A number of requisitions on the state treasury for money appropriated to various state institutions, including the state university and some of its branches, the state tuberculosis sanatorium and others, have been held up temporarily by the governor on account of the shortage of funds in the state treasury available for general purposes.
Following the final enactment of the bill to turn the beer tax into the general fund, which has already passed the house, there will be plenty of money to meet all these claims, and they will be promptly paid.

Pardon Is Granted.
Governor Brown, on recommendation of the prison commission, yesterday granted a pardon to James Reid, a young white man of Hall county, who has been under a life sentence since 1907 for murder. There were more than 1,600 names on the petition asking for Reid's pardon, and it was stated that he was convicted at a time of great excitement and was probably being unjustly punished.

New Oil Mill at Oconee.
Athens, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Messrs. James M. Smith, of Oglethorpe, and A. S. Rhodes, of this county, will in a few days begin the erection of a fifty-thousand-dollar oil mill at Oconee Heights, on the Gainesville Midland railroad, a few miles from this city. Mr. Rhodes will have active management of the new industry, which will also have a refinery and fertilizer department.

Rally of Farmers' Union.
Rome, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—The annual rally of the Farmers' Union will be held this year with the Homewood local. Arrangements for the day were perfected at the regular monthly meeting of the Georgia County Union here today. The gathering will be held at the spring on E. J. Lyman's place, three miles north of Rome.

PARTY OF CALIFORNIANS
SPEND DAY IN ATLANTA

Boys and Girls Taking a Trip Under Auspices of The Los Angeles Examiner.

A party of boys and girls, under the charge of H. J. Weldon, of the Los Angeles Examiner, were in Atlanta yesterday taking in the various points of interest. They compose the winners of a subscription contest gotten up by The Examiner and have been touring all the large cities, having left Los Angeles on the 6th of July.

Immediately after their arrival Wednesday night, after registering at the Piedmont, the young people began a round of all the various attractions up and down Peachtree and Whitehall. A trip over the city in automobiles was also enjoyed.

"All of us are just having the times of our lives," said Mr. Weldon. "And we are particularly struck with the natural beauty of the south. Atlanta is undoubtedly the greatest city in the south today. On our way from Washington we passed through a number of large cities, but nowhere have we seen so much enterprise and hustle as is evident in Atlanta."

The party leaves this morning for New Orleans.

INAUGURAL CEREMONY
OF PRES. AINSWORTH

Will Be Held at Wesleyan College on the 6th of September.

Macon, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—An inaugural ceremony marking the induction into office of President W. N. Ainsworth, of Wesleyan, is to occur on September 6 at the formal opening of the fall session at the institution. This is to be one of the most important events of the year, and large numbers of the friends of both Dr. Ainsworth and Wesleyan will be present.

Among the speakers of the occasion will be Chancellor Barrow, of the University of Georgia, and other leading Georgia educators. Methodists throughout the state will have interest in the ceremony, and it will mark the beginning of a larger usefulness of the institution at whose head Dr. Ainsworth has been placed.

DUBLIN STREET RAILWAY.

Application Made for Franchise for Electric Line.

Dublin, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—An application was made last night to the mayor and council of Dublin for a franchise to build a street railway in this city. The petition was presented by Hon. P. L. Wade, and was signed by the following gentlemen: S. M. Kellam, W. W. Bush, A. W. Garrett, W. R. Brigham, A. P. Hilton, W. W. Robinson and F. L. Wade. The petition asked for a franchise for a period of twenty-five years, and asked for the use of certain streets exclusively. The application for franchise was referred to the ordinance committee of council. This committee will confer with a committee of the petitioners, and an agreement or contract will probably be made, subject to the approval of the mayor and council at the next regular meeting.

The promoters of the street railway are fully able to finance the enterprise, and if a reasonable franchise can be obtained, it is likely that work will begin just as soon as a charter has been obtained.

Eyeglasses That Stay On

Many people have trouble in keeping eyeglasses on, especially in warm weather. We have given this point careful study and have had long, practical experience. Although we have every style of guard and device of value made for holding eyeglasses in place, we sometimes find it necessary to especially design guards, in particularly difficult cases. It is seldom that we find a person whom we can not fit satisfactorily with nose-glasses. Do not be discouraged. Give us the opportunity to fit them.

PROTEST IS FILED TO SENATE ACTION

Reason for Callaway's Vote Finally Gets Into Senate Journal.

Signed by seventeen of the senators who voted against the removal from office of Chairman S. G. McLendon, of the railroad commission, a protest against the action of the majority of the senate both in removing the commissioner and in refusing to record on the journal the fact that Senator R. D. Callaway, of the twenty-ninth, voted for removal upon the Athens bond deal and not upon the charges preferred by former Governor Hoke Smith, was yesterday recorded on the journal of the senate, in accordance with a privilege permitted under the rules of that body.

The protest declared that Chairman McLendon's trial was illegal and unconstitutional, and that he could only have been legally tried by impeachment; that the removal was a legislative act and in the nature of a bill of attainder which was in violation of the constitution of the United States and of the state; that the law under which Chairman McLendon was suspended is unconstitutional in that it provides for no notice and gives no opportunity for hearing; that Senator Callaway, of the twenty-ninth, had voted for removal on the Athens bond deal and not upon Governor Smith's charges, and therefore the governor's charges, receiving only 22 votes, or one less than a majority were not sustained; that the senate was unlawfully refused to let the bare fact of the reason for Senator Callaway's vote go into the journal.

The protest further held that while the legislature could abolish the office, it had no authority to remove the commissioner to abolish the commissioner who had done nothing to justify removal.

Dangerous Assumption of Power.
The making of rates, the protest stated, is a legislative act, and the constitution declares that the functions of the legislative executive and judicial departments shall forever remain separate and distinct. The suspension of the commissioner, therefore, because of his vote and attitude in the matter of rates, was a violation of the constitution by the executive and constituted a dangerous assumption of power.

In conclusion, the protest declared the action of the senate was violative of law and of the constitutions of Georgia and the United States, in that it constituted the enactment of a bill of attainder and was legally null and void.

Senators Jackson and Harrell both made the point of order that the protest was unparliamentary and that therefore under the provisions of rule No. 20, which permits only that senators may state the "grounds" of protest. They did not, however, strongly press their objections, and it was finally ordered by President Stanton to be recorded in the journal.

The senators opposing removal of Mr. McLendon have thus finally succeeded in getting into the journal the fact that Senator Callaway did not consider the governor's charges sustained and voted for removal solely upon the Athens bond deal.

HOWARD WILCOX OPENS REAL ESTATE OFFICE

Howard W. Wilcox, one of the best-known real estate men in Atlanta, has entered the field for himself, after a period of successful service with Edwin P. Ansley, and has opened offices in the Candler building.

Mr. Wilcox has proved himself an energetic, capable and wide-awake hustler in the real estate field, and has put through, successfully and satisfactorily, many important and valuable deals. He has also supplied some attractive and valuable ideas in the direction of progressive development in Ansley park and other sections.

Since making Atlanta his home, Mr. Wilcox has made many friends, who earnestly wish him a full measure of success in his new undertaking.

SENATE PASSES RAILROAD BILL

Gives New Right of Eminent Domain.

Permits Building Spur Tracks, Straightening and Double-Tracking Main Lines—The Amendments to Restrict the Measure Were Defeated.

The senate yesterday, by a vote of 29 to 6, passed the bill by Senator Rutherford extending the right of eminent domain to railroad companies with Georgia charters for the purposes of building spur tracks to industrial enterprises, double-tracking their main lines, taking out curves and kinks and erecting terminals.

The bill did not get through without considerable trial and tribulation. First the committee report was not in proper order and that carried it over for a day. Then the original bill was lost, and that came near postponing it a day longer, when the measure was finally found.

In addition to this Senators Perry and Harrell kept up a stubborn fight against it on the ground that it was giving too great privileges to the railroads.

The majority of the senate, however, was for the bill throughout and voted down all but one of the amendments offered. The amendment adopted simply prohibited railroads from exercising their rights under the bill within incorporated cities and towns without the consent of the mayor and council.

Eminent Domain Bill Taken Up.

The senate, after spending an hour in discussing the report of the committee on rules refusing to give precedence to the resolution to ratify the national income amendment, which, however, will come up later, and voting to extend the daily sessions to 2 o'clock, took up as the first order of business the Rutherford bill amplifying and enlarging the right of eminent domain as granted to railroad companies under certain conditions.

As soon as the bill had been read Senator Perry made the point of order that the original bill had disappeared and could not be found, and the committee substitute being on the clerk's desk, and in the absence of the original he declared the measure could not legally be considered.

The precipitous move wrangle and an effort was made to establish a copy of the original. Within a few minutes, however, the original was found under a flap of the clerk's desk and there was nothing to interfere with its consideration.

Senator Harrell then moved to postpone consideration of the bill until 10 o'clock Friday in order that it might be printed. He was anxious, too, to insert certain amendments. He said he was not against the bill, but thought certain features of it were dangerous and ought to be eliminated.

"This bill was prepared by the railroad and introduced by their request," Senator Harrell declared.

The motion to postpone was lost, and the bill was taken up for immediate discussion and action.

What the Bill Provides.
This bill provides that railroads chartered under the laws of Georgia, shall have the power to condemn private property for the purpose of building spur tracks to manufacturing and industrial enterprises; also for the purpose of double-tracking their lines, of straightening out curves and shortening their lines, provided no station is left off their main lines, and finally for the purpose of constructing terminals.

It is provided that eminent domain cannot be exercised under this law without the consent of the railroad commission.

Senator Kemp offered an amendment providing that no railroad should be entitled to the privileges granted under this measure, unless they pay state and county taxes. This amendment was aimed at the Georgia railroad and one or two other lines which are now exempt from taxation under their charters.

Argument on the Bill.
Senator Perry then began an argument in opposition to the bill in which he insisted there was a "nigger in the woodpile" somewhere. He declared the bill granted dangerous powers and privileges as against the people of the state.

Senator Burwell made an argument in favor of the bill urging its necessity for the commercial and industrial development of the state and appealed to the senators not to vote against the measure merely because it came to the senate with the word "railroad" written on it.

Senator Harrell said one of the dangerous provisions of the bill was that it granted railroads the right to go through the property of public or private. Another objection was that it was possible with the consent of the railroad commission for a railroad to leave any town off its main line. He wanted that privilege made impossible under any circumstances.

Only One Amendment Adopted.

An amendment by Senator Blackwell, which provides that no railroad shall exercise the privileges granted under this act within the limits of any incorporated city or town without the consent of the mayor and council thereof, was adopted without a dissenting vote.

Senator Perry's amendment requiring that all railroads exercising the privileges granted under the act shall hold their charters in accordance with the constitution of the state was defeated.

The senate also defeated the Harrell amendment to strike out the provision which granted railroads the right to straighten main lines, where expressly approved by the railroad commission.

In the same manner the Kemp amendment to prohibit railroads from exercising these privileges unless they pay state and county taxes, was voted down.

By a vote of 29 to 7, the committee substitute was adopted as amended and the bill was then passed by the vote stated.

Bills Passed by the Senate.

The senate passed the following bills:

By Mr. Faircloth of Johnson—To amend an act establishing the city court of Wrightsville.

SENATORS NOW WRESTLING WITH TAX ON SODA SYRUPS

Just what will be the nature of the tax to be placed upon soda fountain syrups, such as coca cola and others, by the finance committee of the senate, now considering the general tax bill, will depend largely upon the opinion of Attorney General John C. Hart, to whom the matter will be referred by a subcommittee of three, composed of Senators Burwell, Rutherford and Harrell.

In any event it is certain that the tax of 5 cents a gallon as passed by the house of representatives will be greatly reduced.

The committee has before it two propositions, one made by Senator Rutherford to reduce the tax as passed by the house from 5 to 2 cents a gallon and to leave out tinctures and extracts, and the other offered by Senator Burwell, providing for a graduated tax upon the amount of business done, and beginning with 45 and running up to $2,000, that is $5 on those doing up to $1,000 worth of business, $10 on those doing up to $5,000 worth of business, $20 on those doing up to $10,000 worth of business, and $30 on those doing up to $20,000 worth of business, and $40 on those doing up to $30,000 or more.

Committee Closely Divided.

Seven members of the committee voted for the Rutherford proposal, and seven for the Burwell proposal, making it a tie. Some of those supporting the Rutherford proposal said they did not want to vote for it if it is unconstitutional, and it was for that reason that the question is to be submitted to the attorney general. "It is still doubtful, therefore, as to which method will be adopted, though it was reported that the attorney general looked upon the per gallon tax as unconstitutional."

Judge John S. Chandler in his argument before the committee declared that the per gallon tax was unconstitutional because it was an excise tax. He gave his assent to the plan of taxing according to the amount of business done upon any scale which the committee might see fit to fix. The scale which the committee has under consideration is just double that which Judge Chandler supposed. Messrs. White, of Stevens and Hill, of Monroe, appeared before the committee and argued in support of the tax as passed by the house. They stated they were not wedded to the amount fixed in the house bill, though they considered it fair. If the committee saw fit to reduce it, all right, but they held that the per gallon tax was the only fair method and one which would operate on all alike. Mr. Rutherford, however, insisted that the tax now, but it was coming in the future, he said, and even in greater degree than is now proposed.

For Home Insurance Companies.
After hearing from Mr. Ault, of Peck, Mr. Dean, of Rome, and W. S. Coleman, of Cedarhurst, on the subject of taxing insurance companies, the finance committee voted to amend the bill so as to provide that all insurance companies which invest as much as one-fourth of their total assets in taxable property in Georgia, shall be relieved of half of the 1 per cent tax on gross premiums; and all such companies as invest three-fourths of their total assets in taxable property in Georgia, shall be relieved upon to pay only one-tenth of 1 per cent upon their gross premiums.

This is similar to the Texas law, as well as to laws in many other states adopted for the purpose of encouraging home insurance companies. It does not increase the tax on any foreign company, but reduces the tax on all companies which invest certain proportions of their assets as specified within the state.

Near Beer This Morning.

The foregoing were the only two sections of any consequence considered by the committee.

It was decided to hear from those opposing the Alexander prohibition section, directed against near beer, at a meeting of the committee to be held at 8 o'clock this morning at the capital.

It is understood that one of the hardest and, perhaps, closest fights in the whole bill will come upon this section in the committee and on the floor of the senate.

TWO FULL MOONS IN MONTH; NO WONDER AUGUST IS WET

The weather bureau promises Atlanta a fair day today, but the promise does not include the rest of the state, over which generally there is to be a continuance of the showers which have been so prevalent recently.

There was more rain yesterday, but not enough to seriously affect the stage in Peachtree creek and the bureau registered the fall as merely a trace. Owing to the fact that there is at the present time no distinct storm center on the map, the weather officials are unable to lay the blame for all the wetness on their old friends, "high" and "low" and are in fact somewhat at sea when called upon to explain why the first four days of August this year have shown 3.30 inches rainfall, while the average fall for the month of August is only 4.48.

However, the secret is out and for the knowledge as to the exact cause of the wet spell the Gopher is indebted to an old friend who lives in the Chattahoochee just above the mouth of Nance's creek. As divulged by this friend, who is a weather prophet of long standing and no mean reputation, even in his own backwash, the cause of the weather had just in the fact that there are two full moons this August.

Just why the moon should have a right to get full twice a month in a prohibition state, especially just at the time an effort is being made by the legislature to exile near beer, may not be apparent, but there can be no denying the fact. Grier's almanac, which no one would dare to doubt, is authority for the statement that the moon was full at 3:35 p. m. on the 1st, and that the same phenomenon will occur on the 30th at 11:23 p. m. The Gopher's friend from the Chattahoochee declares that he has lived on the river bottom for 47 years and he has never known a month with two full moons not to show a remarkable rainfall. He says the rains for the month have only started, so those who believe in the ascendancy of the moon over the weather had just as well quit bothering the local bureau with questions and make up their minds to experience 26 days more of wetness.

Mercury got no higher than 86 on Thursday.

WRITING RECORDS SMASHED BY HOUSE READING CLERK

D. F. McClatchey, the popular and gracious reading clerk of the house of representatives, who numbers his friends by his acquaintances, has performed a feat during the session of the legislature which has never been duplicated in the history of the general assembly and it is doubtful if ever in the state.

In one day, in long hand, he has rewritten the general tax act, as passed by the house, and now up for consideration by the senate. This task can be partially appreciated when it is realized that there are, by actual count, over 74,000 words in this budget. Nor was the mere feat of writing (long hand) all; there were a score or more of immediate amendments which had to be written in the bill and inserted at the proper place. Nor could there be a mistake of a comma or a punctuation, for upon the accuracy of this act, when it is finally approved by the governor, depends the revenue of the state for the next two years.

Inasmuch as Reading Clerk McClatchey had kept track of all amendments to this intricate bill it was necessary for him to superintend the task of writing it, inserting the amendments, in order to get it over to the senate "immediately."

The enrolling clerks of the house estimated that it would require three days for any good writer to do the job.

"I'll do it Tuesday," spoke up McClatchey. He bundled up the bill and adopted amendments and went to his home in Marietta to begin the job. He got an early start Tuesday morning and at 6 o'clock Tuesday afternoon he had finished the job.

CORNER STONE LAID AT R. E. LEE INSTITUTE

Ex-Governor Hoke Smith and Hon. Henry Banks Were Among Speakers.

Thomaston, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—The cornerstone of the new R. E. Lee Institute and Auditorium building was laid today by Hon. Henry Banks, deputy grand master of Georgia.

After laying the cornerstone, the large crowd in attendance went to the court house, where addresses were made by ex-Governor Hoke Smith, Professor G. T. Oliphant of Macon and Hon. Henry Banks. After the exercises, a barbecue was given nearby.

Washington Wins.

Washington, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Washington again defeated Augusta this afternoon by the score of 6 to 1. Bangam, of the locals pitched masterly ball, striking out ten men, and yielding but two scratch hits, one of which was prevented by sun from fielding, the other misjudged by Felder. Simms, who was tried out by the Boston National this spring, pitched for Augusta, giving up ten hits and striking out seven. Both teams played better ball in field. Washington making two errors and Augusta one.

TOURGE BROYLES FOR COMMISSION

Friends Will Ask His Appointment.

He Will File Application Today—Mr. Broyles Has Had Long Railroad Experience of Twenty-Three Years—Now a Successful Business Man.

Following the action of both houses of the general assembly in voting to remove from office Chairman S. G. McLendon, of the railroad commission, the friends of Mr. R. A. Broyles, of Atlanta, a well-known business man, will today present his name to Governor Brown for appointment to the vacancy on the commission.

The friends of Mr. Broyles will urge his peculiar fitness for the position on account of his long railroad experience, as well as on account of his business success and ability.

Mr. Broyles began at the bottom as a brakeman on a freight train when only 16 years of age, and he was a conductor at 19, the youngest on the road. His first service was with the Georgia Pacific, the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and finally with the Central of Georgia.

From the position of passenger train conductor he became general yardmaster of the various yards, and was offered the general yardmastership of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia and Atlanta and Macon combined.

With the Central of Georgia he was master of the train service, having control of everything above the rails over 308 miles of track. All engineers, trainmen, dispatchers, operators and agents on this line were under his control, in addition to which he had the duty of making out railroad schedules.

He has an experience of twenty-three years in railroad service in these various capacities, leaving every company of his own accord, since which time he has been for ten years a successful business man.

All of these facts will be prominently urged before Governor Brown by Mr. Broyles' friends in requesting his appointment. Mr. Broyles was an earnest advocate of the election of Governor Brown and has been his warm friend.

FIGHT IS MADE ON INCOME TAX

Senate Refuses to Make Resolution a Special Order.

A strong effort was made in the senate yesterday to have the resolution proposing to ratify the income tax amendment to the constitution of the United States, made a special order for immediate consideration.

Senator Perry, of the thirty-third, led the fight for action upon the amendment, declaring it to be his ambition to have Georgia the first state to act.

The committee on rules refused to set it down as a special order, and the senate voted against among the report of the committee so as to include it in the order of business.

It became quite apparent that there is a strong sentiment in the senate against ratification of the amendment, their sentiment being supposedly on the ground that if there is to be any income tax, Georgia should get the benefit of it.

When asked if he would specify as to names of parties in connection with his charge of lobbying against the ratification of the amendment, Senator Perry said he had meant to state he had heard there was such lobbying.

"I spoke rather upon suspicion and belief than upon actual knowledge," he said. "But there is every indication that there has been and is lobbying against ratification of the income tax amendment."

To Settle Possession of Child.

Macon, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Mrs. C. F. Walker, her husband and a brother of her husband left this morning for Atlanta, where they carried the difference between husband and wife for final settlement. The contention on leaving here was over the possession of a child, their child. Other matters, warrants and charges, were put aside, and the warrant charging Mrs. Walker with a misdemeanor will not be pushed.

Preaches Last Sermon.

Cuthbert, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—Rev. J. F. Eden preached his last sermon to his congregation last night as pastor of the Cuthbert Baptist church, and with his family will leave for his new charge, as pastor of the Curtis Baptist church, in Augusta, Ga., to which he was recently called.

Wooden Wedding.

One of the prettiest events of the season was the celebration of the wooden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Eshen, at their home on Lawn street, Wednesday evening. The guests were received by Miss Nell Harrell and Miss Kate Hughey, and were given presents on entering with dainty souvenir hearts of burnt wood tied with green and white ribbon. The guests were assembled on the broad, cool porch, which was very beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers, the color scheme of white and green being prettily carried out in all the rooms, the parlor, dining room and reception hall being thrown into one. The mantels were banked with ferns and flowers, and draped with clinging vines and white and green ribbon.

Promptly at 9 o'clock the guests were ushered into the parlor and reception hall, and to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, rendered by the orchestra, the host and hostess entered, preceded by the sister and brother of the host, Mr. Fred Sheets and Mrs. Geter Tanner, who stood with them against a huge embankment of palms, while an address was made by Rev. J. M. Spinks, after which they received the congratulations of their many friends present. The hostess was beautifully dressed in a handsome white satin gown made empire, with dainty hand-made trimmings about the corsage. Punch was served in a corner of the cool porch by Miss Kate Hughey, and at a late hour a delicious course of cream and cake was served buffet.

The many beautiful presents received attested to the esteem in which they are held by their many friends. Among those present were Miss Nell Harrell, Miss Kate Hughey, Miss Elma Sheets, Miss Elizabeth Wheeler, Miss Margaret Summers, Miss Lillie Sheets, Miss Clifford Sheets, Mr. Brown Summers, Mr. Fred Sheets, Mr. B. M. Alverson, Mr. Herbert Sheets, Mr. Walton Reeves, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cape, Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hardman, Mrs. Nell White, Mrs. S. E. Sheets, Mrs. E. Alcorn, Mrs. B. S. Manlove, Rev. J. M. Spinks, Mr. C. Y. Sheets and others.

At East Lake.

The regular bimonthly dance of the Atlanta Athletic Club will take place Saturday evening at the club house at East Lake. This is not a subscription affair, but is for all members of the club.

A number of parties have already been formed for Saturday evening, and there will be a number of visiting girls present.

The new cement walk which has been laid from the club house to the car line adds greatly to the comfort of the members and their guests.

For Miss Bullock.

Mrs. Albert T. Akers will give a small bridge party this morning in honor of her guest, Miss Mary Bullock, of Mobile, Ala.

The first prize will be a hand-embroidered Dutch collar, and the consolation, a picture frame. The score cards will be ornamented with hand-painted heads.

The game will be followed by a luncheon. Eight guests will be entertained.

Afternoon Reception.

Mrs. J. E. Spurlock will entertain this afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock the young women's Bible class of the Central Presbyterian church, of which class she is a member. The reception will take place at Mrs. Spurlock's home, 49 East Georgia avenue.

There are eight young women in the class, and there will be a few guests besides these. Dainty refreshments will be served during the afternoon.

Evening Party for Visitors.

A delightful affair of this evening will be the porch party, which Miss Ruby Latson will give for her guests, Misses Mamie Whitehead and Nannie Gibson, of Macon.

The porch will be prettily decorated with golden glow, palms and ferns, while both porch and lawn will be lighted by Japanese lanterns. Punch will be served on the lawn under a Japanese umbrella hung with bright colored lanterns.

Miss Lawton's guests will be: Misses Josephine Montgomery, Katie Carlisle, Edna Blackmon, Eloise McClain, Carabel Clarke, Pearl Jansen, Jimmie Mae Fenn; Messrs. Norman Giles, Henry Montgomery, Fred Lee, John Campbell, Owens McConnell, Adams, Joe Tillinghast, Kendall Milton, John Dabner, Luther McKenney, Carl Johnson, J. B. Neal, Hugh McClain and Reynolds Clarke.

Auto Straw Ride.

A delightful event of this week was an auto straw ride given by the young men of the Jolly Twelve club. In the party were the members of the club and a number of friends.

Trips to Ponce de Leon and Buckhead were enjoyed, the party returning through town to Grant park, where a delicious supper was spread. Super over, the party climbed aboard the good auto-steed and enjoyed another delightful ride, stopping at the home of Mrs. H. S. Chalmers on Capitol avenue, where refreshments were served. The jolly party adjourned late in the evening, after enjoying a most pleasant evening.

The party was composed of the following young people: Miss Cordelia Moser, Miss Juliette Clayton, Miss Ferrelle Arbelly, Miss Jennie Rice, Miss Windsor, Miss Mary Sevier, Miss Elizabeth Dull, Miss Dora Matthews, Mr. R. A. Johnson, Mr. O. N. Ewing, Mr. R. E. Ransom, Mr. C. E. Roberts, Mr. F. S. Chalmers, Mr. A. G. Moser, Mr. J. T. Stevenson, Jr., Mr. W. F. Bragg, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. C. McCoy. The party was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. McCoy.

Ice Cream Festival.

The ice cream festival that was to have been given on the lawn of Mrs. Charles Hopkins Thursday evening will be held on the lawn of Grace church Friday evening from 5 to 9:30 o'clock. Everybody cordially invited.

To Miss Jennings.

Miss Emily Jennings, a charming member of the young society set, was the guest of honor at a bridge party given yesterday morning by Miss Mildred Sprattling. The guests were Miss Sarah Rawson, Miss Mignon McCarty, Miss Aurelia Speer, Miss Silvey Speer, Miss Bessie Pope of Jacksonville, Fla., Miss Bessie Jones, Miss Harriett Calhoun, Misses Calie and Lucy Holke Smith, and Miss Margaret Williams. The prizes, gold bar pins, were won by Misses Aurelia Speer and Harriett Calhoun.

The game was followed by a delicious luncheon and the young hostess and her guest of honor wore white linen embroidered.

To Miss Hicks.

Miss Margaret Hicks was the guest of honor at a bridge party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. H. E. Maddox. Golden glow, the season's brightest flower, was used to decorate the house throughout, and that color was reflected in the ties and bonbons served after the luncheon. The prizes included a pair of silk stockings, a hand-embroidered handkerchief and for the honor guest an Irish lace collar.

Mrs. Maddox wore a pink mull gown trimmed in lace. The guests were Miss Jennie Lowry, Miss Kate Waldo, Miss Elizabeth Goodall of Nashville, Miss Lollie Bloodworth of Forsyth, Miss Marie Woodson, Miss Willis Dwyer, Miss Viola Parks, Miss Marie Parks, Miss Nell Parks, Miss Lottie Stophner, Miss Ellen Lowry, Miss Kate Edmondson, Miss Anabel West, Miss Fannie West, Miss Katherine West, Miss Edna Pugh, Miss Carrie Carroll, Miss Fannie Walker, Miss Susie Wells, Mrs. Louise Todd Thomas, Mrs. J. I. Lowry and Mrs. George W. Osborn.

Club Entertained.

Mrs. G. A. Howell entertained the F. B. C. Club yesterday afternoon at her home in West End. In the party were eighteen guests. Delicious refreshments were served, and the house was beautifully decorated in garden flowers. Mrs. Howell wore black embroidered mull.

Mrs. Terrell's Luncheon.

Mrs. Joseph Terrell will entertain at luncheon today at her home on Juniper street in honor of Mrs. Roland Ellis, of Macon, who is at the Piedmont with Mr. Ellis until after the legislature adjourns.

The table will be decorated in golden glow, and all the appointments will reflect that color. The party will number twelve.

Miss Adair's Dinner.

Miss Elizabeth Adair was the charming hostess at a dinner party last evening in honor of Mrs. Roland Ellis, of Macon, who is at the Piedmont with Mr. Ellis until after the legislature adjourns. The table at which the party were assembled was beautifully decorated in pale pink lilies, these arranged in an elevated plateau. The silver candlesticks had shades of the same color and the cakes, candies and leas were in pink. Miss Adair's becoming gown was of white mull and lace.

Miss Hallman's Tea.

In honor of Miss Virginia Jenkins and Miss Dorothy Fuller, of Virginia, the guests of Miss Laura Analely, Miss Tea Hallman entertained at tea yesterday afternoon.

Punch was served by Miss Marcellus Hallman and Miss Elizabeth Fuller and in the receiving party were the young ladies in Atlanta who attend the castle school in New York. The home was decorated with house plants, and a quantity of June roses of all varieties. In the drawing room where the lovely young hostess received pink and white roses were used in vases, on the mantel and cabinets, and potted fern added to the artistic effect.

In the library where punch was served, the decorations were in nasturtiums, the punch bowl wreathed with them, and the chandeliers hung with them.

In the dining room where dainty sandwiches and teas were served, the table had as center piece, a basket filled with beautiful pink roses and asparagus fern, the handles tied with bows of pink tulle.

The candle sticks had shades of pink and silver diagonals, and the cakes and candies were in pink. Miss Hallman's chic gown was of white embroidered tulle and lace. Miss Jenkins wore lavender mull and lace.

brothered. Miss Whaley wore white mull and lace.

If You Can Find Better Ribbon Values Than These, Please Let Us Know Where They Are to Be Had.

We have quite a pride in our Ribbons. People have learned to expect so much from us in this particular line that it has come to be a perpetual challenge to us to do our level best. That's why we have such fine assortments, such splendid varieties.

But the main thought is Value.

Now, just for instance, look at these, offered for today:

6-inch soft Messaline Ribbon in white, black and all shades. The most popular ribbon selling today. Regular 23c 35c quality 23c

5 1-2-inch soft satin taffetas Ribbon in black, white, light blue and pink. Regular 35c quality 23c

5 to 7-inch Moire and French Faille Ribbon, black, white and all colors. The ribbon we sell regularly at 50c 33c to 65c the yard. Today 33c

And, by the way, the Ribbons have moved. They're down where the silks used to be. But they're quite at home and in the best sort of light for matching shades and tints and so on.

DR. PICKARD SUPPLIES

TABERNACLE PULPIT

Dr. W. L. Pickard, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Savannah, Ga., is supplying the Tabernacle pulpit the first two weeks of the pastor's absence. Dr. Pickard preached last Sunday morning and evening to a crowded house, holding the unbroken attention of his hearers as he preached with mighty power from the book of Isaiah. His Sunday morning subject was "The Great Savior" and Sunday night subject was "The Great Salvation," and at the Friday night prayer service his subject will be "The Great High Priest." Dr. Pickard has filled one of the most important pulpits of this and other states, having left the Broadway Baptist church to accept the call to Savannah. He is a man of a distinct personality, his easy, cordial manner drawing people to him as a man, his eloquence and earnestness as a minister of the gospel reaching the hearts of those who listen and bringing them in closer touch with God.

Next Sunday morning Dr. Pickard will preach on "The Call to the Great Faith," closing his two weeks' ministry here Sunday night, preaching on "The Great Life." Special song service at both the morning and evening hour.

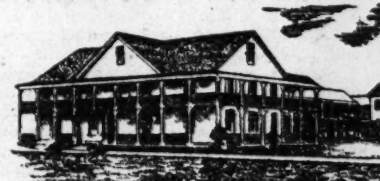

Prayer meetings Friday nights at 8 o'clock.

Security In Banking

THE MOST IMPORTANT FACTOR in the investment of money is security. Your money might be earning large dividends at high rates; but unless you feel that it is absolutely safe, you cannot enjoy that peace of mind that comes to those who have their funds deposited in a well-organized bank.

The wide banking experience of the officers of the Atlanta National Bank, the high financial standing of its directors and the careful attention given to each account, assures patrons of this bank absolute security for every dollar deposited.

BY 129 TO 40, M'LENDON LOSES FIGHT IN HOUSE

nipsed, Vinson, Warden, Whitely, Williams, Wohlwend, Woodliff—55.
Against the impeachment resolution—Adams, Alexander, DeKalb, Allen, Atkinson, Bailey, Beasley, Bell, Berry, Booker, Brinson, Decatur, Brown, Carroll, Brown of Henry, Brown of Murray, Burton, Calhoun, Cannon, Carwell, Carter, Chandler, Childs, Cooke, Cordell, Couch, Cowan, Curren, Dickson, Edmundson, Edwards, Elder, Ellison, English, Faircloth, Fender, Fields of Crisp, Ford, Galloway, Gentry, Rogers, Sheppard, Guyton, Hardeman of Jefferson, Harrington, Harvey, Hatfield, Helms, Henderson of Irwin, Henderson of Turner, Hendricks, Hubbard, Hullender, Hule, Johnson of Bartow, Johnson of Jeff Davis, Johnson of Towns, Joiner, Jones of Laurens, Jones of Mitchell, Kelley, Kendrick, Kennedy, Kiehl, Kiehl, Kirby, Littleton, Loyd, Lovejoy, Marshall, Meadows of Telfair, Meadows of Toombs, Middlebrooks, Miller of Ware, Milkin, Minter, Moss, MacFarland, McConnell, McCarty, McMichael of Butts, McMichael of Marion, McWhorter, Oliver, Parker of Decatur, Parker of Talbot, Paulk, Peacock, Persons, Pope, Porter, Price, Proctor, Reeves, Reid of Putnam, Renteria, Rogers, Sheppard, Shirley, Simmons, Slade, Smith of Telfair, Smith of Walton, Stovall, Tarter, Tipping, Tracy, Fugate, Turner, Upshaw, Waddell, Walters, Watkins, White of Screven, Wright of Grady, Wood, Wright of Floyd, Wright of Stewart—115.

The Morning Session.
The McLenon case was taken up at 9:30 o'clock, in accordance with the program previously arranged by the rules committee, and adopted by the house. This program showed the following list of speakers and the time they were to occupy: Hall of Bibb, 30 minutes; Sheppard of Sumter, 20 minutes; Brown of Carroll, 15 minutes; McElreath of Fulton, 15 minutes; Ellis of Bibb, 30 minutes; Persons of Monroe, 10 minutes; Boyd of Spalding, 10 minutes; Moss of Cobb, 10 minutes; Baker of Lumpkin, 10 minutes; Allen of Upson, 10 minutes; Reese of Glynn, 10 minutes; Alexander of DeKalb, 15 minutes; Alexander of Fulton, 10 minutes; Wright of Floyd, 15 minutes; Anderson of Chatham, 30 minutes; White of Screven, 10 minutes; Fullbright of Burke, 15 minutes; Hardeman of Jefferson, 35 minutes.
Speaker Holder, after the reading of the resolutions by Hardeman of Jef-erson, Anderson of Chatham and Hall of Bibb, made a statement of the conditions agreed upon for the day's debate. He announced that, after Mr. Hall's speech in support of his impeachment resolution, the time would be divided equally between the two opposing sides. That the time would be controlled by Mr. Hardeman of Jefferson and Mr. Anderson of Chatham, who had made out a list of the speakers and the time to be taken by each.

Hall on Impeachment.
In addressing himself to his impeachment resolution, Mr. Hall said the proposal before the house was to remove a state officer without a hearing. He charged that very few members of the house had read in full detail the evidence on which they were called upon to pass. "The lowest and the vilest criminal is entitled to a hearing before conviction," he said, "and this man should have one."

He intimated that if Mr. McLenon were removed without a fair trial by impeachment proceedings, the courts might step in and reverse the decision of the general assembly. Such, he said, was the belief of many of the ablest lawyers in Georgia.

He ridiculed the argument that opposition to impeachment grew out of the desire not to impose severe punishment. He insisted that the correspondence between Mr. McLenon and the president of the Wrightsville and Tennille railroad in reference to bond deeds was prima facie evidence that Mr. McLenon had violated his oath of office and laid himself thereby open to impeachment.

"This house is a legislative and not a judicial body. It has not even quasi-judicial powers. When you sit here and vote for removal, you are exercising a judicial function, and striking down a man without a trial. In your blindness in striking at a man—and mark you, I do not appear here as his defender—you are striking at one of the most vital defenses of the people of the state."

Sheppard for Removal.
Mr. Sheppard, of Sumner, said the office of railroad commissioner was not a constitutional office as had been declared by the courts. The legislature, he said, could create the office, abolish the office or suspend a commissioner.

He declared Mr. McLenon had been given a hearing and the evidence briefed and submitted to the legislature; that every charge made had been admitted by Mr. McLenon. He attacked the commission for having made an inspection tour of the Atlanta & West Point railroad on the private car of the president without paying fare.

Brown and McElreath.
"A man cannot be tried on allegations not specified in the indictment," said Mr. Brown, of Carroll. He denied there was evidence to show Mr. McLenon was recreant to his trust in connection with the right over rates from the west.

Taking as his text the axiom that "a public office is a public trust," Mr. McElreath, of Fulton, devoted particular attention to the bond deeds admitted by Mr. McLenon.

Ellis Against Removal.
"Gentlemen and Fellow Judges of the House," was the significant salutation of Mr. Ellis, of Bibb, in beginning his address. "It was rumored that before the question came into the house a majority of the jury had been pledged to vote to sustain the message of suspension," he said.

He referred to the "indictment that was discussed with the jury before it was returned," and asked what would be thought of giving such a right to a prosecuting attorney in a criminal case.

"I charge that before the suspension message was written it was unfair, and unjust, and that the day of retribution would come."

"In the first flush of his success, a governor removed from office a railroad commissioner who disagreed with him, and before his dying agonies ceased he signed in the blind fury of his disappointment an order removing another commissioner. The victim of that injustice will, as surely as God reigns, remove his persecutor from the field of political activity. The rolling chair of that victim has become a throne. I envy him his situation, and if I were in his place would roll over this state from the Tennessee to the Florida line and tell the people of this injustice."

In discussing the bond deeds he demanded to know why Governor Smith did not send to the commissioner's office and ask his old-time personal friend if the rumors he had heard were true, instead of going the roundabout way he did.

In discussing McLenon's attitude on port rates and the partisan spirit that demanded that he take a certain course, Mr. Ellis said it was no difference that the other decision might have closed the doors of every factory in Macon and caused the grass to spring up in the deserted streets of half a dozen Georgia cities, the port rates advocates would have insisted on giving one Georgia city advantages over the rest of the state.

The committee which heard the evidence in this case had, he declared, no more power than fourteen poets chained in a tower. He said a vindictive press had distorted the facts for partisan purposes that the people were given an erroneous impression. He told of his little boy, deceived by big, black scare headlines, coming to him and asking "Who McLenon had killed and when he was to be tried."

After discussing the relations between Governor Smith and Mr. McLenon, the speaker quoted Woolsey's advice to Cromwell: "Had I but served my God with half the zeal I served my king, he would not in mine age have left me naked to mine enemies."

Persons, of Monroe, denied any knowledge of the opinion of any other member in regard to the McLenon case. He also denied that the charges under consideration were in the nature of an indictment. As to the probability of a court review, he said the legislature was the supreme law-making power and the courts could not go behind its judgments in this case. He said no man had any vested right in his office and no property right therein.

Violation of Constitution.
The entire proceeding in this McLenon case violates the letter and spirit of the state constitution," said Mr. Boyd, of Spalding the next speaker. He said there was never any intention to give the governor power to remove an official chosen by the sovereign people and that the senate had already passed a bill specifically correcting the language as it stands. He said he believed the section of the law under which the house was proceeding was unconstitutional.

That Mr. McLenon had been first on one side and then on another of the railroad question was charged by Mr. Moss, of Cobb. He said Mr. McLenon should be permitted to resign.

For Majesty of Law.
"I am not here as an advocate of Mr. McLenon, but of the majesty of the law," said Mr. Baker, of Lumpkin. He said the procedure of the general assembly denied to Mr. McLenon the protection of the law. Had the port rate decision never been rendered this case would never have been heard of, he declared, and predicted that a revolution of protest would sweep over Georgia. He pleaded for honest judgment as opposed to partisan bias.

Mr. Allen, of Upson, insisted that he was not controlled in his course by the wishes or judgment of either the former or the present governor.

Mr. Reese, of Glynn, said impeachment proceedings provided the only legal method the house could pursue in disposing of the matter.

That the talk of impeachment was injected into the discussion simply to muddy the waters was insisted by Mr. White, of Screven. He said the main question was whether Mr. McLenon had been a traitor to his trust.

The speaker thought he had and that the legislature should be fair to the people as well as to Mr. McLenon.

Mr. Alexander, of Fulton, asserted that if the house voted to suspend Mr. McLenon it would vote to destroy the railroad commission and make it merely the mouthpiece of the governor then in office. He spoke for the Hall resolution, saying that impeachment was the only legal remedy.

"The voice of the people repudiating the former administration has said that what we want in Georgia is not arbitrary power in the governor, but government according to law," said the speaker.

"When you vote to suspend this man because of the bond transactions, you are considering something that under the law you have no right to let influence you."

Wright Makes Strong Speech.
The last speech of the morning session was made by Mr. Wright, of Floyd. He made one of the strongest speeches of the day and upon its conclusion was warmly congratulated by a number of his colleagues, among them being men who opposed as well as those who shared his views.

He began by saying that no defense had been offered by any of Mr. McLenon's friends for his actions. He charged that venom had been cast at those who opposed him and an effort made to create public sympathy for him. Those opposing the suspension were charged with taking up the defense of treason; that the suspension was equivalent to the right exercised in other states of recalling an unworthy servant. He paid particular attention to the bond transactions and expressed surprise that any legislator should condone that offense.

At the conclusion of Mr. Wright's speech, Mr. Anderson, of Chatham, gave notice for an intention to move for a night session Friday night.

The Afternoon Session.
The first speaker who addressed the house after the noon recess was Mr. Fullbright, of Richmond. Taking up the statement by Mr. Wright, of Floyd, that politics played no part in the suspension, he referred to the various charges against Mr. McLenon and insisted that politics was at the bottom of all of them, from that of riding on a free pass to abandoning the Macon platform. Referring to the bond deal, he marveled at the efforts of the opposition to convict a man on the evidence and not on the pleading.

Mr. Alexander, of DeKalb, denied that any charge of politics was made against Mr. McLenon. He said the announcement of the suspension in the newspapers came as a surprise to him, as he had not expected it. He discussed the question of port rates at some length.

The next speaker was Mr. Middlebrooks, of Newton, who announced himself outspokenly as favoring the suspension.

Mr. Anderson, of Chatham, said that the house has no more right to remove a public officer for any offense less than an impeachable offense following the governor's message than it would have had had no message been received, was contended by Mr. Anderson, of Chatham.

He discussed earnestly but without rhetorical flourishes the various charges against McLenon set forth in the governor's message. As to port rate cases which had been before the railroad commission, he said they were applications for reduced rates to benefit a particular town.

He likened the present case to the desire on part of some people after the civil war to have the federal government humiliate and degrade Jefferson Davis.

He warmly criticized the statement in Governor Smith's message that Mr. McLenon went into office pledged to a certain line of political action and was "morally bound" to carry it out. He insisted Mr. McLenon was morally bound to execute his duties under oath of office. In conclusion he said:

"Don't put upon this old man a stain that will never come out. A burden he will never be able to lift; don't punish, humiliate and degrade him, on these charges made against him, by the governor. Censure is as far as we can or should go under the circumstances."

Hardeman Closes Debate.
In closing the debate, Mr. Hardeman said:

Cobs—Havana cigar, a ripe Havana cigar, sold in bundles of nine for 15 cents. Don't sniff at the price before you've sniffed the cigar. You can't find a better piece of leaf in any Havana cigar, or a more fragrant leaf or a smoother smoke.

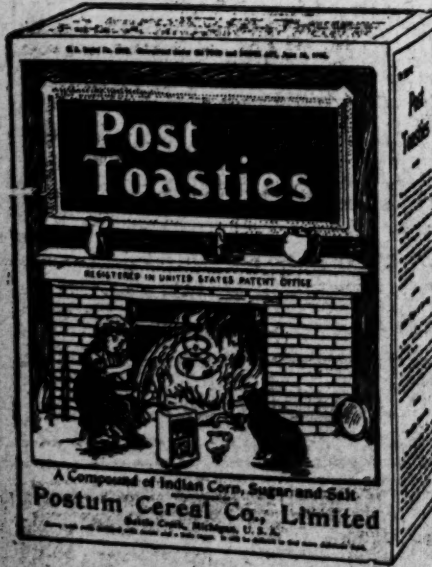

Cobs aren't pretty to look at—they're not made to be looked at—you can't smoke looks, you can't smoke fancy labels, you can't smoke ornamental boxes—all that you can smoke is tobacco and Cobs are only tobacco, only good tobacco, Havana tobacco. Nine Cobs are in each bundle. The price of the nine is 15 cents. Each one of the nine tastes like a 10-cent cigar, because it's made of the same leaf that goes in a 10-cent cigar.

CONDUCTOR STABS MAON CONTRACTOR

Wife Was Cause of the Fight.

Attack Took Place in a Cherry Street Store—The Woman Was a Witness to the Cutting.

Macon, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—W. R. Burnett, a conductor for the Macon Railway and Light Company, walked into the store of E. B. Harris & Co. on Cherry street this afternoon and stabbed Early White, a contractor, in the right lung and on the arms and hands. The trouble is said to have been caused by alleged relations White had with Mrs. Burnett.

The conductor attacked White with a knife and inflicted the serious injuries before anyone could prevent the fight. Burnett's friends say that on account of White, Mrs. Burnett and her husband have been separated for several days. It is claimed Burnett fought his wife, who works in the store, talking with White when he walked in. The contractor was taken to the hospital. Burnett has not yet been arrested.

CULVER MADE PRINCIPAL OF TECH HIGH SCHOOL

Faculty Is Selected at Meeting of the Education Board.

Professor Charles S. Culver was elected principal of the new Technological High School on Marietta street yesterday at a meeting of the board of education. The following professors were voted to be transferred from the "Jays" High school to the Tech High school: C. A. Dean, associate in mathematics and shop work; W. R. Snyder, associate in mathematics and shop work; E. S. Maclean, associate in mechanical drawing; R. K. Malone, associate in science and English; W. O. Cheney, associate in English and mathematics.

The principal of the new school, Prof. C. S. Culver, is an honor graduate of the Alabama Polytechnic institute. Prof. C. A. Dean is a distinguished graduate of the same university. Prof. W. R. Snyder is one of the honor graduates of the Georgia School of Technology. Prof. E. S. Maclean is a newly graduated of the University of Tennessee. Prof. R. K. Malone is an honor graduate of Emory College, and former principal of the High school at Marietta, Ga. Prof. W. O. Cheney is an honor graduate of the University of Georgia.

POLITICAL POT BOILING IN THE TENTH WARD

There are several residents of Oakland City who feel that the honors going with membership in the general council would not fit upon them. Two E. S. Maclean, a newly-acquired territory have announced their intention of becoming candidates, while another has almost decided to enter the race. I. N. Ragsdale will make the race for alderman, D. J. Baker, for councilman, while W. S. Stoy, it is said, will become a candidate for the two-year term in council.

HEAVY BAIL GIVEN BY CATHOLIC PRIEST

Father Holtgreve Is Charged With Gross Immorality and Criminal Libel.

Plaquemine, La., August 5.—Rev. John J. Holtgreve, a priest of the Catholic church, was released from jail here tonight upon furnishing bail in the sum of $74,250. He was arrested in New Orleans yesterday and brought back to Plaquemine on charges, set out in 31 indictments, alleging gross immorality and criminal libel.

ROBERT J. BURDETTE PUT IN PLASTER CAST

Body of the Humorist Must Be Held Rigid for Months.

Los Angeles, Cal., August 5.—Robert J. Burdette, humorist and Baptist preacher, who is seriously ill from an injury to the spine, sustained in a fall last March, was placed in a plaster cast yesterday. His spinal cord has become affected, and the physician in attendance says that his body must be held rigid for several months.

Campbell Superior Court.

Fairburn, Ga., August 5.—(Special.)—After four days of strenuous work, the Campbell superior court Judge E. J. Reagan presiding for Judge L. S. Roan, came to a close today. A resolution of thanks, offered by Oscar Parker at the meeting of the bar, was given Judge Reagan for his able and impartial manner in presiding over the court.

Lexington Mayor Indicted.

Lexington, Ky., August 5.—The Fayette county grand jury in session here today returned wholesale indictments against Mayor John W. Skain and several city officials on charges of failing to enforce contracts with the Lexington Street Railway Company as to street repairs.

HAS MARRIED MORE ELOPERS THAN ANY PARSON IN WORLD

Bristol, Tenn., August 5.—The Rev. Alfred Harrison Burroughs, the "marrying parson" of Bristol, today married his three thousandth couple. They were Hugh S. Jones, a young farmer of Wayne county, Virginia, and Miss Elizabeth Lytton, of Wytheville.

The Rev. Mr. Burroughs claims the world's record. He has made a veritable Gretna Green of Bristol by reason of the discrepancy in the marriage laws of Virginia and Tennessee. Ninety-five per cent of his couples have been elopers from Virginia and West Virginia, under the age of 21. His business has grown by leaps and bounds the last few years, and he has now established a new Mecca within a hundred and fifty yards of the union depot and the Virginia state line.
